Homeland Security Act of 2002: Legislative History and Pagination Key

Summary

On November 22, 2002, Congress completed its legislative action on the proposal to establish a Department of Homeland Security. The House agreed to the amendment to H.R. 5005, as passed by the Senate on November 19, 2002.

H.R. 5005, as amended, passed the House on July 26, 2002. H.R. 5710, an expanded proposal, was introduced November 13, 2002 and passed the House, with one amendment, the same day. An amendment (S.Amdt. 4901), identical to H.R. 5710, was offered in the Senate to H.R. 5005 on November 13. On November 19, 2002, the Senate adopted that amendment and passed H.R. 5005.

This report presents an abbreviated legislative history of the Homeland Security Act of 2002, providing information on the sequence of events leading up to passage and references to related legislative proposals.

A pagination key is provided. The version used is the text of H.R. 5005, as enacted, (Enrolled version) accessible on the Legislative Information System (LIS) at [<http://www.congress.gov>]. Also available at that site is a link to the CRS Web page, which links to CRS Current Legislative Issues and the Homeland Security topic.

The Act was signed November 25, 2002. (As of 10:00 a.m. November 26, 2002, the signed measure had not been transmitted from the White House to the Office of Federal Register, and, therefore, has no public law number assigned.) This report will be updated when the designation is available.

Homeland Security Act of 2002: Legislative History and Pagination Key

Introduction

On November 22, 2002, Congress completed its legislative action on the proposal to establish a Department of Homeland Security. The House agreed to the amendment to H.R. 5005, as passed by the Senate on November 19, 2002.

H.R. 5005, as amended, passed the House on July 26, 2002. H.R. 5710, an expanded proposal, was introduced November 13, 2002 and passed the House, with one amendment, the same day. An amendment (S.Amdt. 4901), identical to H.R. 5710, was offered in the Senate to H.R. 5005 on November 13. On November 19, 2002, the Senate adopted that amendment and passed H.R. 5005. The Act was signed November 25, 2002. (As of 10:00 a.m. November 26, 2002, the signed measure had not been transmitted from the White House to the Office of Federal Register, and, therefore, has no public law number assigned.) This report will be updated when the designation is available.

This report presents an abbreviated legislative history of the Homeland Security Act of 2002, providing information on the sequence of legislative events leading up to passage and references to related legislative proposals. It also provides a pagination key to the legislation. The version used is the text of H.R. 5005, as enacted (Enrolled version), accessible on the Legislative Information System (LIS) at [<http://www.congress.gov>]. Legislative History

Several bills were offered during the 107th Congress for the purpose of establishing the Department of Homeland Security. H.R. 5005 is the vehicle through which the proposals are being enacted. However, the legislation has changed and expanded from the version introduced during the summer of 2002.¹ The following legislation is presented in reverse chronological order. It is intended to provide the basic information on the sequence of events and does not purport to be an encompassing legislative history.

¹For an overview of the development of the departmental legislation, see CRS Report, RL31493, Homeland Security: Department Organization and Management, by Harold C. Relyea.
