Summary

One of the most defining aspects of consideration of measures in the House and Committee of the Whole is that time is always controlled. There is virtually no circumstance under which a Member speaks on the floor without first knowing in advance how long has been allocated. Ranging from one minute or less to 60 minutes, debate limitations exist on all aspects of floor consideration.

This report, one of a series on legislative process, addresses time limitations associated with selected House floor procedures. Actions that are not debatable, such as the motion to adjourn, the motion to table, and the motion to rise, are not included.

Table I. Debate Limitations in the House and Committee of the Whole

Parliamentary Situation	Time Allocated	Comments
Suspension of the rules	40 minutes maximum, equally divided between majority and minority Members	If ranking committee Member supports the measure, another Member who opposes it can claim control of half time
Special rule	60 minutes maximum, unless previous question not ordered	30 minutes customarily yielded to minority floor manager for debate only
Motion to discharge a measure	20 minutes, equally divided between proponent and opponent
Conference report	60 minutes, equally divided between proponent and opponent	If minority floor manager supports the report, another Member may claim time, dividing it 20 minutes each for those two and the majority floor manager
Motion to instruct conferees	60 minutes, equally divided between proponent and opponent	Prerogative of minority party Member; if committee chair and ranking member support the motion, another Member may control one-third of time
Motion to recommit	10 minutes, unless majority floor manager asks that time be extended to one hour	Time equally divided between proponent and opponent
Amendments offered in Committee of the Whole (including pro forma amendments)	5 minutes, unless special rule allocates differently	Time cannot be reserved
Questions of personal privilege	60 minutes
Questions of privileges of the House	60 minutes, equally divided between proponent and opponent
Special orders	5 minutes until midnight; 60 minutes until midnight on Tuesday, or midnight (whichever comes first) on other days	Total time limited to 2 hours for majority and minority
Morning Hour debate	30 minutes per side; each Member reserves up to 5 minutes
Point of order/Parliamentary inquiry	Members may be heard at discretion of, and time controlled by, presiding officer	May be made in House or Committee of the Whole

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) is a federal legislative branch agency, housed inside the Library of Congress, charged with providing the United States Congress non-partisan advice on issues that may come before Congress.

EveryCRSReport.com republishes CRS reports that are available to all Congressional staff. The reports are not classified, and Members of Congress routinely make individual reports available to the public.

Prior to our republication, we redacted names, phone numbers and email addresses of analysts who produced the reports. We also added this page to the report. We have not intentionally made any other changes to any report published on EveryCRSReport.com.

CRS reports, as a work of the United States government, are not subject to copyright protection in the United States.
