Overview

On February 9, 2016, the Obama Administration submitted to Congress its FY2017 budget request totaling $52.78 billion in new budget authority for the State Department, Foreign Operations, and Related Appropriations (SFOPS) accounts. Of the total request, $17.05 billion¹ is for State Operations and related agencies (a 3.6% increase over FY2016 estimates), and $35.74 billion is for Foreign Operations (-1.8% compared with FY2016 estimates that include emergency Ebola funds).

On June 29, 2016, the Senate Appropriations Committee introduced and reported the Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2017 (S. 3117/S.Rept. 114-290). It would provide a total of $52.24 billion, after rescissions and including funds designated for Overseas Contingency Operations (OCO). This level is $542.04 million (or 1%) below the President’s request. For State Operations and related agencies, it would provide $16.88 billion and for Foreign Operations, $35.52 billion.

On July 15, 2016, the House Appropriations Committee introduced and reported its Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2017 (H.R. 5912/H.Rept. 114-693). The measure would provide $52.24 billion, including OCO. This level is $546 million (or 1%) below the President’s request, and about $4 million less than the Senate bill. Funding for State Operations and related agencies would be $16.29 billion, nearly $600 million below the Senate funding level. Its Foreign Operations funding level of $35.95 billion is $432 million above the Senate-recommended level.

On September 29, 2016, the President signed into law (P.L. 114-223) a continuing resolution (CR, H.R. 5325) to extend funding the federal government, including the SFOPS appropriations, until December 9, 2016. The CR continues FY2016 funding levels after a reduction of 0.496% that is applied only to enduring funds within SFOPs, not OCO.

This report provides an overview and highlights of the request with an account-by-account comparison of the FY2017 request to the House and Senate committee-passed bills and FY2016 estimates in Appendix A. Appendix B provides the International Affairs 150 function funding levels.

- a. The Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 established a congressional budget process. The act, as amended, includes a requirement that the House and Senate allocate funds to the Appropriations Committee, which are then divided among the 12 subcommittees, as required by Section 302(b).

The Senate 302(b) allocation report total does not appear to include $159 million in mandatory spending for the Foreign Service Retirement account, which is included in the House allocation and the House and Senate committee totals.

The Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015 and State-Foreign Operations Appropriations

The FY2017 appropriations process is shaped by the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015 (BBA, H.R. 1314; P.L. 114-74) that Congress passed at the end of October 2015. The law raised the overall discretionary spending limits set by the Budget Control Act of 2011 (BCA, P.L. 112-25) from $1.039 trillion to $1.069 trillion for FY2017. The law also increased non-security funding (that includes SFOPS funding) from $503.5 billion to $518.5 billion for FY2017 and established a $14.895 billion minimum for SFOPs OCO funding for FY2017.²

FY2017 Enduring and Overseas Contingency Operations Funds

In the FY2017 request, as every year since FY2012, the Administration distinguishes between enduring costs and those to support “overseas contingency operations” (OCO). OCO-designated funds, which do not count toward discretionary budget allocations established each year by appropriators, were initially described in budget documents as “extraordinary, but temporary, costs of the Department of State and USAID in Iraq, Afghanistan and Pakistan,”³ but have been used for a broader range of countries and activities, including counterterrorism efforts. The OCO designation gained increased significance in August 2011 with enactment of the Budget Control Act, which specified that emergency and OCO funds do not count toward the budget caps established by the act for FY2011-FY2021 and enforced by across-the-board cuts called sequestration. Use of the OCO designation expanded further with enactment of the Bipartisan Budget Act (BBA) in 2015, which established a minimum annual OCO funding level for FY2016 and FY2017 SFOPs appropriations that was significantly higher ($14.89 billion) than SFOPs OCO spending in prior years. As a result of the BBA, the Administration request and House and Senate SFOPs bills all call for the same OCO funding level for FY2017, which is level with the FY2016 OCO funding but represents an increase of 59% from the FY2015 funding. (See Table 2.)

² The BBA also impacted the FY2016 appropriations cycle, raising the discretionary spending cap that year from $1.016 trillion to $1.066 trillion, increasing security funding from $523.1 billion to $548.1 billion and nonsecurity funding from $493.5 billion to $518.5 billion, and setting an SFOPS OCO minimum of $14.895 billion.

Note: Supp=emergency supplemental funds, largely used for Iraq and Afghanistan before the OCO designation was first used in FY2012. FY2015 OCO/Supp includes $9.37 billion for OCO and $2.53 billion for emergency Ebola funds.

Key Issues for Congress

Within the broad range of activities supported by the SFOPS budget are several programs and focus areas that may be of particular interest to Congress as a result of their size, recent funding or policy changes, or relation to current world events.

State Department Operations

Administration of Foreign Affairs. The Administration of Foreign Affairs funds salaries and expenses, including security funding, for the Diplomatic and Consular Programs (D&CP) account, embassy security and construction, and educational and cultural exchanges, among other activities. The Administration is requesting a total of $12.06 billion, compared with $11.98 billion in the Senate bill (S. 3117) and $11.86 billion in the House bill (H.R. 5912), all including OCO funds of which both House and Senate include more than requested. The House bill would provide $167.29 million less for D&CP and nearly $37 million less for exchange programs, while the Senate bill would fund $11.08 million less for D&CP and $67.1 million less for exchanges.

Cuba. In order to support implementation of its new Cuba policy, $3.8 million is requested within the D&CP account for infrastructure improvements to the U.S. embassy in Havana (converted from an Interests Section last year). The State Department's funding request would support up to 10 additional U.S. citizen positions (at least 8 foreign service officers and one civil servant), as well as refurbishing workspace, securing communications and updating vehicles for the motor pool.

The House bill (H.R. 5912) includes language prohibiting funds from being used for the establishment of a United States diplomatic presence in Cuba or to facilitate the establishment or operation of a diplomatic mission of Cuba in the United States beyond that which was in existence prior to December 17, 2014, with certain exceptions and limitations.

The Senate bill (S. 3117) has no comparable provision.

Contribution for International Organizations and Peacekeeping Activities. The Contributions to International Organizations (CIO) account funds the U.S. share of the assessed budgets of 44 international organizations, including the U.N. regular budget and U.N. specialized agencies. The FY2017 CIO request is $1.39 billion, a 4% decrease from the FY2016 estimated level. The reduction is tied to a decrease in the U.N. regular budget projection, as well as the winding down of United Nations Criminal Tribunals for the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda. H.R. 5912 would provide $41.14 million less than requested and S. 3117 would provide $11.81 million less.

The Contributions for International Peacekeeping Activities (CIPA) request, which funds U.N. peacekeeping missions and the two international war crimes tribunals, is $2.39 billion, a decrease of 2.7% from the FY2016 level. The request is based on the U.N. peacekeeping assessment for the United States of 28.56% (rather than the amount recognized by U.S. law of 27.14%). It also reflects the possible closure of the U.N. Mission in Liberia. In addition, the Administration's FY2017 request includes $150 million for a Mechanism for Peace Operations Response (MPOR), a repeat proposal from the FY2015 and FY2016 requests intended to support urgent—but as yet undefined—peacekeeping needs. The proposal was not funded by Congress in prior years.

The House would provide $1.95 billion or $445.4 million less than requested for CIPA. The Senate measure would fund CIPA at $2.37 billion, nearly the level of the request.

Diplomatic Security. The FY2017 request for Worldwide Security Protection (WSP), which supports the Diplomatic Security Bureau's functions around the world, would grow by 9.4% over FY2016 estimated levels to $3.71 billion. Much of the increase in requested funding is for security measures in Afghanistan and Iraq. Physical security upgrades at diplomatic facilities, which are mostly funded through Worldwide Security Upgrades (WSU) under the Embassy Security, Construction and Maintenance (ESCM) account, are managed by the Bureau of Overseas Building Operations. The WSU request for FY2017 is for $1.6 billion, an 11% increase from FY2016 estimated levels. Within the ESCM request is $1.0 billion to provide for the Department of State's share of the Capital Security Cost Sharing (CSCS) program, which is an interagency shared-funding mechanism designed to ensure each U.S. government agency represented abroad is paying its fair share of construction costs for new and more secure facilities; it is unclear whether other agencies are fulfilling their commitments under the program.

The House and Senate bills would provide the same total as requested. The Senate, however, would designate more of the total as OCO funds, while the House funding is the same as the Administration's request.

Cuts to NED, Asia Foundation, East-West Center. The FY2017 request repeats the Administration's FY2015 and FY2016 request for deep budgetary cuts to a number of State Department-funded institutions. An overall cut of 43% to these accounts would mean significant reductions in funding for, among other institutions, the East-West Center, the Asia Foundation, and the National Endowment for Democracy (cuts of 35%, 29%, and 39% respectively).

Both House and Senate bills would maintain the FY2016 funding levels for all three organizations for FY2017.

Passport Surge. The department anticipates a 37% increase over FY2015 in passport applications in the coming year, or an estimated 20 million requests. The increased load is due to the 10-year expiration of some 18 million passports issued in 2007 as the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative (WHTI) was being implemented. That measure for the first time required passports for Americans returning by air from Mexico, Canada, the Caribbean, and Bermuda. Nearly 10 years later, those passports are beginning to expire, increasing demand for passport renewals. The Passport Services Enhancement Act of 2005 authorized the department to charge a fee to cover the costs of increased passport demand from the WHTI, and the Administration request includes an extension of this authority through FY2017.

The House bill does not address this issue. The Senate provides the Secretary of State with the authority to collect a surcharge on passport fees to cover any costs of meeting increased demand for passports.

Foreign Operations

Foreign Operations accounts, which fund foreign assistance activities, would total about $35.74 billion under the FY2017 request, comprising about two-thirds of the international affairs budget. As in recent years, the FY2017 funding would be allocated largely to major Obama Administration foreign aid initiatives and support to strategic allies. In addition, notable focus areas within the FY2017 request include countering ISIS, humanitarian assistance, responding to Russian aggression, and Central American migration.

The House committee-passed bill, H.R. 5912, includes $35.95 billion for Foreign Operations accounts, and the Senate committee-passed bill, S. 3117, includes $35.52 billion for these accounts. In this section, references to H.R. 5912 and S. 3117 include both the bills and their accompanying reports (H.Rept. 114-693 and S.Rept. 114-290, respectively).

Administration Initiatives. The Obama Administration's four broad foreign assistance initiatives would continue to play a major role under the FY2017 foreign operations request and the House and Senate proposals, accounting for about 30% of the total foreign operations request.

- For the Global Health Initiative, the request is $8.577 billion, about a 0.9% increase from the FY2016 estimate. The request would continue to focus resources primarily on HIV-AIDS treatment and prevention (70%), as well as maternal and child health, and stopping infectious diseases. The Administration proposes boosting malaria funding by about 11% in FY2017, compared to FY2016 estimates, in part by seeking authority to reprogram unobligated emergency funds appropriated for Ebola response in FY2015, and includes $275 million for GAVI, the vaccine alliance, a 17% increase over the FY2016 estimate.

H.R. 5912 includes $8.917 billion for global health programs, including $275 million for GAVI, but would boost spending for maternal and child health (+22%) and malaria (+13%) relative to the request while reducing funds for family planning and reproductive health (-15%).

S. 3117 provides $8.665 billion for global health and matches the Administration's request for GAVI and malaria programs while boosting funding for tuberculosis (+26%) and nutrition (+15%) relative to the request.

- Feed the Future, the Administration's food security initiative, would receive $1 billion under the FY2017 request, level with FY2015 funding (a FY2016 estimate is not available). Funds would be focused on accelerating the impact of programs demonstrating progress in reducing poverty and stunting in focus countries.

H.R. 5912 provides $1.001 billion for agricultural development and food security activities.

S. 3117 provides $1.053 billion for agricultural development and food security.

- Global Climate Change Initiative funding would total $1.33 billion in FY2017 under the request, level with the FY2016 request and a 62% increase from the FY2015 funding level. The increase is largely attributable to a proposed contribution ($750 million) to a multilateral Green Climate Fund (GCF), to which the Administration pledged $3 billion in November 2014. This request would be partially offset by the ending of U.S. contributions to the Strategic Climate Fund (funded at $60 million in FY2016) and the Clean Technology Fund (which received $171 million in FY2016). U.S. commitments to both funds were fulfilled with FY2016 appropriations. The Administration made the same request in FY2016, but Congress appropriated no funds for the GCF. Compared with FY2015, the request would increase funding for clean energy programs (+11%) while decreasing funds for sustainable landscapes (-14%).

H.R. 5912 does not specify a funding level for GCCI or for environmental programs generally, but includes a provision prohibiting contributions to the GCF.

S. 3117 recommends no less than $1.385 billion for environment programs, including no more than $500 million for the GCF.

- Power Africa. The Administration requested $300 million ($291.3 within State and USAID) for its initiative to expand access to electricity in sub-Saharan Africa, a 120% increase over FY2015 funding (an FY2016 funding estimate is not available).

H.R. 5912 does not specify a funding level for this initiative.

S. 3117 recommends $291 million for Power Africa.

Top Country Recipients. In the FY2017 request, top foreign assistance recipients would not differ much from FY2015 (FY2016 country allocations are not yet available). Israel would continue to be the top recipient, with a requested $3.1 billion (level with FY2015) in Foreign Military Financing (FMF) funds, followed by Egypt, for which $1.46 billion is requested (almost level with FY2015), primarily in FMF to support shared security interests. Afghanistan would receive $1.25 billion (+11% from FY2015), primarily to help build sustainable institutions and help the newly elected government protect development gains, and Jordan would receive $1.0 billion (1% below FY2015) to promote security and stability in the region as well as address economic and security strains related to the crisis in Syria. Pakistan would get $742 million (a 7.6% cut from FY2015), to continue ongoing efforts to increase stability, counter violent extremism, and support economic growth. Other top recipients would include Kenya ($626 million), Nigeria ($606 million), and Tanzania ($575 million), all of which are top recipients of global health funds. Ethiopia would receive $514 million, a mix of security, development, and governance assistance. Iraq would rejoin the top recipient list in FY2017, after a few years absence, with a requested $510 million (more than double FY2015 funding) for security and stabilization activities, as well as support for a $1 billion sovereign loan guarantee.

Neither the House nor Senate bill details comprehensive country allocation, but both bills and their accompanying reports specify aid funding levels for select countries. H.R. 5912 allocates $3.1 billion for Israel, $1.275 billion to Jordan, and explains that no funding levels are provided for Afghanistan and Pakistan because of the evolving situation in those countries. S. 3117 provides allocations for many countries, with top recipients including Israel ($3.4 billion), Egypt ($1.38 billion), Jordan ($1.0 billion), Afghanistan ($725 million), Pakistan ($642 million), and Iraq ($510 million).

Focus Areas. In addition to foreign assistance initiatives and support to strategic allies, there are a number of priority issues and objectives identified in the FY2017 Foreign Operations request.

- Syria/Counter-ISIL. The FY2017 request identifies $4.05 billion, a 19% increase over FY2015, for activities to counter ISIL and respond to regional instability stemming from the crisis in Syria. About half of this funding is to address humanitarian needs, with the rest to address development and security challenges in Jordan, Iraq, Syria, and Lebanon.

H.R. 5912 authorizes funding for both humanitarian and non-lethal economic assistance within Syria and neighboring countries to stop the advance of ISIL and address the needs of refugees, but does not specify a funding level.

S. 3117 recommends $238 million for Syria within development assistance accounts for non-lethal assistance to promote stability and economic development, build civil society, and meet the needs of those impacted by the conflict. In addition, an unspecified amount of humanitarian assistance, as well as economic assistance to refugee host countries in the region, is made available to meet the needs of refugees and internally displaced persons in the region.

- Humanitarian assistance. The total humanitarian assistance request is for $6.156 billion, including $4.805 billion within the foreign operations account,⁴

which is about 19% less than the FY2016 estimate, in part because FY2016 funding was relatively high, and because the responses to current high-level crises in Yemen and South Sudan are expected to be scaled back in FY2017.

H.R. 5912 would continue funding humanitarian assistance accounts at the FY2016 level.

S. 3117 would provide $5.503 billion for SFOPs humanitarian assistance accounts, about 15% more than the request and about 7% less than the current year estimate.

- Ukraine/Countering Russian Aggression. Total funding identified by the Administration for the purpose of “countering Russian aggression” would decrease about 22% from FY2015, to $952 million, under the FY2017 request. The decrease is the result of loan guarantees not being requested for Ukraine, as they were in FY2015. Aside from loan guarantees, bilateral and regional assistance to Ukraine, Georgia, and Moldova would increase by about 25%.

H.R. 5912 makes available a total of $663 million for Ukraine, of which $325 million is contingent on a report from the Administration that it is necessary to continue economic and political reforms or to address vulnerabilities caused by Russian aggression. The latter could be used to support a loan guarantee.

S. 3117 provides $295 million for Ukraine, the amount requested by the Administration, and $100 million for Georgia. It also provides $20 million in Europe and Eurasia regional funding to counter Russian aggression.

- Central America. As in FY2016, the Administration is again requesting increased funding to support the U.S. Strategy for Engagement in Central America. The $751 million requested (+34% from FY2015), would focus on addressing the underlying causes of migration from El Salvador, Guatemala, and Honduras.

H.R. 5912 would provide up to $750 million to implement the U.S. Strategy for Engagement with Central America, but conditions all aid to the governments of Guatemala, Honduras, and El Salvador on certification that they are taking steps to address a number of U.S. policy priorities.

S. 3117 allocates $651 million for the Strategy, conditioning 25% of aid to the governments of El Salvador, Guatemala, and Honduras on certification that they are making continued progress on a number of issues.

- Democracy, Human Rights and Governance (DRG). The request includes $2.72 billion for DRG assistance, a 41% increase over FY2015 and 18% over a FY2016 congressional directive. The increase would be spread across several regions and be used to promote government accountability, empower democratic voices, and respond to and support democratic transitions.

H.R. 5912 provides no less than $2.309 billion for democracy programs across all accounts, the same as the FY2016 funding.

S. 3117 recommends no less than $2.576 billion for democracy programs from specified economic assistance accounts, in addition to $170 million for the

in nature but funded through the Agriculture appropriation.

- National Endowment for Democracy and $150.5 million for the Democracy Fund, and provides regional allocations for this assistance.
- Countering Violent Extremism (CVE). The request includes $187 million across several accounts for the purpose of countering violent extremism, a category that has not been highlighted in previous budget requests. The request is more than double the $92.2 million attributed to this purpose in FY2015. CVE activities include addressing conditions that drive terrorist recruitment, mitigating political and social marginalization, and countering violent extremist propaganda, among other things.
H.R. 5912 authorizes the use of funds for countering violent extremism and extremist organizations, but does not specify a funding level.
S. 3117 authorizes the use of funds to support the May 2016 State and USAID Joint Strategy on Countering Violent Extremism, but does not specify a funding level.

Notes: EE = Ebola Emergency request. Shaded columns indicate fiscal year totals. Figures in brackets are subsumed in the larger account above and are not counted against the total. Figures in parentheses are negative numbers. “Enduring” funding is also sometimes referred to as “base” or “ongoing” funding in budget documents. Numbers may not add due to rounding.

- a. The request includes $10.8 million for the East-West Center under the Educational and Cultural Exchanges account.
- b. FY2015 rescission is from the Export-Import Bank account; $6 million add-on in the FY2017 Senate bill was in title VII, for special immigrant visas; the $165 million rescission in the FY2017 Senate bill is from the ESF-OCO account.
- c. This account is mandatory spending, so State Operations and SFOPS totals in this table differ from budget totals in the International Affairs Congressional Budget Justification that include only discretionary spending.

Appendix B. International Affairs (150) Function Account, FY2015 Actual, FY2016 Estimate, and FY2017 Request and Legislation

The International Affairs budget, or Function 150, includes funding that is not in the Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs appropriation: foreign food aid programs (P.L. 480 Food for Peace and McGovern-Dole International Food for Education and Child Nutrition Programs) are in the Agriculture Appropriations, and the Foreign Claim Settlement Commission and the International Trade Commission are in the Commerce, Justice, Science appropriations. In addition, the Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs appropriation measure includes funding for certain international commissions that are not part of the International Affairs Function 150 account.

- a. Includes mandatory spending from the Foreign Service retirement account, and does not align with budget justification figures that only count discretionary spending. Funding for certain international commissions appropriated in the State-Foreign Operations bill are excluded here because they fall under function 300 of the budget, not function 150 (International Affairs).
- b. The FY2017 Senate Agriculture appropriations bill provides $10 million for a local and regional procurement program, but does so through the McGovern-Dole account rather than a separate account as requested.
