Summary

This report examines the Small Business Administration's (SBA's) appropriations (new budget authority, minus rescissions and sequestration) over time, focusing on developments and trends since FY2000. It also provides total available funding (which includes carryover from the prior fiscal year, carryover into the next fiscal year, account transfers, rescissions, and sequestration) and, for entrepreneurial development noncredit programs, actual expenditures for comparative purposes.

SBA appropriations, as a whole, have varied significantly from year to year since FY2000 and across all three of the agency's major spending categories: disaster assistance, business loan credit subsidies, and "other programs," a category that includes salaries and expenses, business loan administration, the Office of Inspector General, the Office of Advocacy, and entrepreneurial development programs. Overall, the SBA's appropriations have ranged from a high of $2.233 billion in FY2006 to a low of $571.8 million in FY2007. Much of this volatility is due to significant variation in appropriations for disaster assistance, which ranged from a high of $1.7 billion in FY2006 to a low of $0 in FY2009. This variation can be attributed primarily to supplemental appropriations provided to address disaster needs arising from the impact of major hurricanes, such as Hurricane Katrina and, more recently, Hurricane Sandy.

The SBA's appropriations for business loan credit subsidies have also varied since FY2000, ranging from a high of $319.7 million in FY2013 ($337.3 million before sequestration and rescission) to a low of $1.3 million in FY2006 and FY2007. This variation is due to the impact of changing economic conditions on the SBA's guaranteed loan portfolios. During good economic times, revenue from SBA fees and collateral liquidation is typically sufficient to cover the costs of purchasing guaranteed loans that have defaulted. During and immediately following recessions, however, that revenue is typically insufficient to cover the costs of purchasing guaranteed loans that have defaulted.

The SBA's appropriations for other programs, as a collective, have also varied since FY2000, ranging from a high of $1.6253 billion in FY2010 to a low of $455.6 million in FY2007. This variation is primarily due to congressional response to changing economic conditions. For example, Congress approved significant, temporary increases in appropriations for the SBA's other programs spending category in FY2009 and FY2010. Overall, since FY2000, appropriations for other programs have increased at a pace that exceeds inflation. This report provides appropriations for all five major components of the other programs spending category, including the SBA's entrepreneurial development programs.

The SBA's appropriations for FY1954 through FY1999 are provided in the Appendix.

Introduction

The Small Business Administration (SBA) currently administers several types of programs to support small businesses, including loan guaranty and venture capital programs to enhance small businesses' access to capital; contracting programs to increase small businesses' opportunities in federal contracting; direct loan programs for businesses, homeowners, and renters to aid in their recovery from natural disasters; and small business management and technical assistance training programs to assist in business formation and expansion. Congressional interest in these programs has increased in recent years, primarily because small businesses are viewed as a means to stimulate economic activity and create jobs. Many Members of Congress also regularly receive constituent inquiries about the SBA's programs.

This report examines appropriations for the SBA (new budget authority, minus rescissions and sequestration) over time, focusing on developments and trends since FY2000.

This report also provides total available funding (which includes carryover from the prior fiscal year, carryover into the next fiscal year, account transfers, rescissions, and sequestration) and, for comparative purposes, actual expenditures of the SBA's entrepreneurial development noncredit programs.

SBA appropriations, as a whole, have varied significantly from year to year since FY2000 and across all three major SBA spending categories: appropriations for disaster assistance, business loan credit subsidies, and "other programs," a spending category that includes appropriations for salaries and expenses, business loan administration, the Office of Inspector General, the Office of Advocacy, and entrepreneurial development noncredit programs.

The variation in appropriations for disaster assistance since FY2000 is largely due to supplemental appropriations provided to address disaster needs arising from the impact of major hurricanes.

Business loan credit subsidies represent the net present value of cash flows to and from the SBA over the life of the agency's loan portfolios.¹ For guaranteed loans, the net present value of cash flows is affected by several factors, but it is primarily the difference between the cost of purchasing loans that have defaulted and the revenue generated from fees and collateral liquidation. For direct (Microloan) lending, it is primarily the cost of offering below-market interest rates to Microloan intermediaries.²

¹ The U.S. Small Business Administration's (SBA's) Office of Financial Analysis and Modeling is responsible for ensuring that the computation of subsidy rates for the SBA's credit programs are in compliance with the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 (FCRA). As indicated on the office's website,

The FCRA requires all credit agencies, including the SBA, to budget and account for the cost of credit programs by determining the net present value of cash flows to and from the Government over the life of the portfolio and expressing the net amount as a credit subsidy rate. The process to develop a subsidy rate is lengthy and complex, requiring unique data collection techniques and analysis efforts. SBA develops its subsidy rates by creating models that incorporate data on loan maturity, borrowers' interest rates, fees, grace periods, interest subsidies, delinquencies, purchases or defaults, recoveries, prepayments, advances and borrower characteristics.

See SBA, Office of Financial Analysis and Modeling, "Summary of Responsibilities," at <http://www.sba.gov/offices/headquarters/ocfo/resources/13299>.

² Fees and collateral collections have less impact on Microloan credit subsidies than on guaranteed loan credit subsidies because the SBA does not charge intermediaries fees and Microloan intermediaries are required to maintain a loss reserve fund to help defray the SBA's cost of purchasing Microloans that default.

The variation in appropriations for SBA business loan credit subsidies since FY2000 is primarily due to the impact of changing economic conditions on the SBA's guaranteed loan portfolios. During good economic times, revenue from SBA fees and collateral liquidation is typically sufficient to cover the SBA's cost of purchasing guaranteed loans that have defaulted. During and immediately following economic slowdowns, however, revenue from SBA fees and collateral liquidation is typically insufficient to cover the SBA's cost of purchasing guaranteed loans that have defaulted. The shortfall occurs because the SBA's cost of purchasing guaranteed loans tends to increase when the economy slows (primarily because guaranteed loans are more likely to default during and immediately following recessions) and revenue from loan liquidation tends to be constrained during slow economic times (primarily because commercial real estate values typically fall during and immediately following recessions). As a result, additional appropriations are needed to cover these expenses, which are guaranteed by the "full faith and credit of the United States."

Since FY2000, the variation in appropriations for the other programs spending category is attributable primarily to congressional response to changing economic conditions. As the report will discuss, appropriations for this spending category have generally increased at a pace that exceeds inflation.³ In addition, Congress approved significant, temporary increases in appropriations for SBA programs in the other programs spending category in FY2009 and FY2010. It approved these temporary increases primarily as a means to enhance small businesses' access to capital, which had become constrained during and immediately following the Great Recession (December 2007 to June 2009).⁴

The SBA's appropriations for FY1954 through FY1999 are provided in the Appendix.

SBA Funding Trends: FY2000-FY2017

As shown in Table 1, the SBA's appropriations have varied significantly since FY2000, ranging from a high of $2.233 billion in FY2006 to a low of $571.8 million in FY2007.⁵ Much of this volatility is due to significant variation in appropriations for disaster assistance, which ranged from a high of $1.7 billion in FY2006 to a low of $0 in FY2009. This variation is attributable primarily to supplemental appropriations provided to address disaster needs arising from the impact of major hurricanes, such as Hurricane Katrina and, more recently, Hurricane Sandy.

In addition, as shown in Table 1, appropriations for business loan credit subsidies have varied significantly since FY2000, ranging from a high of $319.7 million in FY2013 ($337.3 million before sequestration and rescission) to a low of $1.3 million in FY2006 and FY2007. As mentioned previously, the variation in appropriations for business loan credit subsidies results

³ The SBA's FY2017 appropriation of $696.5 million for other programs is $499.3 million in constant FY2000 dollars (adjusted for inflation), which is higher than the SBA's FY2000 appropriation of $459.5 million for other programs. Congressional Research Service (CRS) calculation using inflation data from U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB), "Budget of the United States Government, FY2017: Historical Tables, Table 10.1 – Gross Domestic Product and Deflators Used in the Historical Tables: 1940–2021," at <https://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/BUDGET-2017-TAB/pdf/BUDGET-2017-TAB.pdf>.

primarily from the impact of changing economic conditions on the SBA’s loan portfolios. During good economic times, revenue from SBA fees and collateral liquidation is typically sufficient to cover the costs of purchasing guaranteed loans that have defaulted. During and immediately following recessions, revenue from SBA fees and collateral liquidation is typically not sufficient to cover those costs.

- a. Implementation of P.L. 112-25 and P.L. 113-6 imposed a federal government-wide sequestration process and a required 0.2% across-the-board rescission in FY2013. The SBA's FY2013 appropriation was reduced by $92.681 million under sequestration and $2.091 million by the rescission. Prior to these reductions, the SBA's FY2013 appropriation was $897.3 million for disaster assistance, $337.3 million for loan credit subsidies, $615.7 million for other programs, and $1,850.3 million in total.
- b. The SBA's FY2011 appropriation of $731.201 million ($45.5 million for SBA disaster assistance, $83.0 million for business loan subsidies, and $602.7 million for other SBA programs) was reduced to $729.738 million by a 0.2% across-the-board rescission imposed on most appropriations accounts by P.L. 112-10.
- c. The initial appropriation for other programs in FY2010 was $662.8 million. An additional $962.5 million was provided: $775.0 million in temporary funding for 7(a) and 504/Certified Development Company (CDC) loan guaranty program fee subsidies and loan modifications and $187.5 million for other SBA programs. P.L. 111-118 provided $125 million; P.L. 111-144 provided $60 million; P.L. 111-157, the Continuing Extension Act of 2010, provided $80 million; and P.L. 111-240 provided $510 million to provide temporary fee subsidies for the SBA's 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guaranty programs and to temporarily increase the 7(a) program's maximum loan guaranty percentage from up to 85% of loans of $150,000 or less and up to 75% of loans exceeding $150,000 to 90% for all 7(a) loans. P.L. 111-240 extended the subsidies and 90% loan guaranty through December 31, 2010, and provided $187.5 million for other SBA programs that remained available through FY2011. Also, P.L. 111-150 authorized the SBA to use $40 million in previously appropriated funds for fee subsidies and the 7(a) loan modification.
- d. SBA disaster assistance funding in FY2009 was carried over from the previous fiscal year.
- e. The initial appropriation for business loan credit subsidies in FY2009 was $2.5 million for direct (Microloan) lending. P.L. 111-5 provided another $6 million for credit subsidies for the Microloan program to remain available through September 30, 2010.
- f. The initial appropriation for other programs in FY2009 was $612.7 million. P.L. 111-5 provided $6 million for Microloan credit subsidies and $724 million for other SBA programs, including $375 million for loan fee subsidies and loan modifications for the 7(a) and 504/CDC programs and $255 million for a new, temporary small business stabilization program, later named the America's Recovery Capital (ARC) Loan program.
- g. Includes reductions by P.L. 109-108 and P.L. 110-5, which rescinded $13.5 million of unobligated balances from the SBA ($6.192 million from unobligated disaster assistance administrative expenses, $5.031 million from unobligated balances in the (7a) general business loan guaranty program, and $2.323 million from unobligated balances in the direct loans program).
- h. Includes reductions by P.L. 109-148, which imposed a rescission of 1.0% on federal agencies, resulting in a $6.992 million reduction from the SBA ($0.017 million from business loan subsidies, $5.160 million from salaries and expenses, $1.600 from business loan administration, $0.178 million from the Office of Inspector General [OIG], and $0.037 million from the surety bond program).
- i. Includes reductions by P.L. 108-447, which imposed a 0.8% rescission on federal agencies, resulting in a $8.277 million reduction from the SBA ($1.395 million from disaster assistance, $0.019 million from business loan subsidies, $4.951 million from salaries and expenses, $1.692 from business loan administration, $0.181 million from the OIG, and $0.039 million from the surety bond program).
- j. Includes reductions by P.L. 108-199, which imposed a rescission of 0.59% on federal agencies, resulting in a $8.042 million reduction from the SBA ($1.700 million from disaster assistance, $0.853 million from business loan subsidies, $4.001 million from salaries and expenses, $1.347 from business loan administration, and $0.141 million from the OIG).
- k. Includes reductions by P.L. 108-7, which imposed a rescission of 0.65% on federal agencies, resulting in a $5.144 million reduction from the SBA ($1.244 million from disaster assistance, $0.579 million from business loan subsidies, $2.401 million from salaries and expenses, $0.839 from business loan administration, and $0.081 million from the OIG).
- l. Includes reductions by P.L. 107-206, which imposed a rescission on federal agencies' administrative and travel accounts, resulting in a $0.485 million reduction from the SBA ($0.164 million from disaster assistance, $0.315 million from salaries and expenses, and $0.006 million from the OIG).
- m. Includes reductions by P.L. 106-554, which imposed a rescission of 0.22% on federal agencies, resulting in a $1.983 million reduction from the SBA ($0.406 million from disaster assistance, $0.364 million from business loan subsidies, $0.903 million from salaries and expenses, $0.284 million from business loan administration, and $0.026 million from the OIG).

- n. Includes reductions by P.L. 106-113, which imposed a rescission of 0.38% on federal agencies, resulting in a $3.280 million reduction from the SBA ($3.185 million from salaries and expenses and $0.095 million from the OIG).

As shown in Table 1, appropriations for the all other programs category have also varied since FY2000, ranging from a high of $1.6253 billion in FY2010 to a low of $455.6 million in FY2007. Much of the variation in this spending category resulted from Congress approving significant, temporary increases in appropriations for the SBA's other programs in FY2009 ($724.0 million) and FY2010 ($962.5 million). Congress approved these additional appropriations primarily as a means to enhance small businesses' access to capital, which had become constrained during and immediately following the Great Recession.⁶ As mentioned previously, since FY2000 appropriations for the SBA's other programs spending category, as a whole, have exceeded the rate of inflation.

For comparative purposes, Table 1 also presents the SBA's total available funds. As indicated in the table, the SBA's carryovers and account transfers tend to reduce variation in its budget from one fiscal year to the next. Much of this "evening out" process is due to disaster assistance appropriations, which are provided in one fiscal year and then typically spent over several fiscal years.

SBA Funding Within the Other Programs Category

The following section examines appropriations and total available funding for FY2000-FY2017 for the five main components of the SBA's other programs spending category: (1) salaries and expenses, (2) business loan administration, (3) the Office of Inspector General (OIG), (4) the Office of Advocacy (Advocacy), and (5) entrepreneurial development (ED) noncredit programs.

Salaries and Expenses

The SBA's salaries and expenses account currently provides funding for the following:

- office operating budgets, which are used by program and administrative offices for daily operations, such as travel, supplies, and contracted services;
- agency-wide costs, such as rent and telecommunications, which are managed centrally;
- employee compensation and benefits, which are also managed centrally; and
- reimbursable expenses for programs for which the SBA receives reimbursable budget authority from other federal government agencies.

Several adjustments were made to the SBA's reported appropriations for its salaries and expenses account to enable meaningful comparisons over time. For example, prior to FY2014, appropriations for the SBA's ED programs, which include the SBA's management and technical assistance training programs, were included in the salaries and expenses account. Because ED programs now have their own, separate appropriations account, their appropriations are no longer included in the salaries and expenses account. Therefore, to allow for meaningful comparisons with current appropriations, Table 2 lists the reported appropriations for ED programs prior to FY2014 and deducts that amount from the reported appropriations for salaries and expenses.

In addition, the SBA included appropriations for congressional initiatives (earmarks) under the salaries and expenses account, but Congress no longer appropriates funding for earmarks. Therefore, to allow for meaningful comparisons with current appropriations and focus the comparison on administrative expenses, appropriations for earmarks are deducted from the reported appropriations for salaries and expenses.

Prior to FY2012, Advocacy was funded through the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount. Advocacy now has its own, separate appropriations account. To allow for meaningful comparisons with current appropriations, Table 2 lists Advocacy's funding provided through the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount prior to FY2012 and deducts that amount from the reported appropriations for salaries and expenses.

As discussed in greater detail below (see "Office of Advocacy"), data concerning Advocacy's funding provided through the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount are not available for FY2006-FY2010. However, in FY2003, FY2004, and FY2005, Advocacy's funding provided through the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount was 79% of its reported total cost. The estimates provided in the table for FY2006-FY2010 were derived by multiplying Advocacy's total program cost reported for each of those fiscal years by 79%.

- a. From FY2000 to FY2005, Congress recommended appropriations for Advocacy's research program in its discussion of the SBA's entrepreneurial development (ED) programs. These recommended appropriations were deducted from the total for ED programs to avoid double counting. Advocacy's funding totals include its research program.
- b. Advocacy's funding from the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount for FY2006-FY2010 is not available. The figures reported here for FY2006-FY2010 were estimated by CRS using the three previous fiscal year allocations (each were 79% of Advocacy's reported total program cost).
- c. Appropriations prior to FY2014 for the SBA's ED programs were deducted from total available funds for comparative purposes. Appropriations prior to FY2012 for Advocacy were deducted from total available funds for comparative purposes. Reported total available funds already accounted for rescissions.
- d. P.L. 113-2 appropriated $20.0 million for salaries and expenses to provide technical assistance related to disaster recovery. The $20.0 million is not included in the table for comparative purposes.
- e. In FY2013, P.L. 112-25 and P.L. 113-6 imposed a federal government-wide sequestration process and a 0.2% across-the-board rescission, resulting in a $21.830 million reduction for salaries and expenses.
- f. In FY2011, P.L. 112-10 imposed a 0.2% rescission on federal agencies, resulting in a $0.867 million reduction for salaries and expenses.
- g. In FY2010, P.L. 111-240 appropriated $155.0 million for salaries and expenses ($123.5 million of that amount was for ED programs and is not included in the table for comparative purposes).
- h. In FY2009, P.L. 111-5 appropriated $69.0 million for salaries and expenses ($24.0 million of that amount was for the Microloan Technical Assistance program and is not included in the table for comparative purposes).
- i. In FY2006, P.L. 109-148 imposed a 1.0% rescission on federal agencies, resulting in a $5.16 million reduction from salaries and expenses.
- j. In FY2005, P.L. 108-447 imposed a 0.8% rescission on federal agencies, resulting in a $4.951 million reduction from salaries and expenses.

- k. In FY2004, P.L. 108-199 imposed a 0.59% rescission on federal agencies, resulting in a $4.001 million reduction from salaries and expenses.
- l. In FY2003, P.L. 108-7 imposed a 0.65% rescission on federal agencies, resulting in a $2.401 million reduction from salaries and expenses.
- m. In FY2002, P.L. 107-206 imposed a rescission on federal agency administrative and travel accounts, resulting in a $0.315 million reduction from salaries and expenses.
- n. In FY2001, P.L. 106-554 imposed a 0.22% rescission on federal agencies in FY2001, resulting in a $0.903 million reduction from salaries and expenses.
- o. In FY2000, P.L. 106-113 imposed a 0.38% rescission on federal agencies in FY2000, resulting in a $3.185 million reduction from salaries and expenses.

As shown in Table 2, the SBA's appropriations for salaries and expenses have varied from year to year, with increases in some years and decreases in others. Overall, appropriations for the SBA's salaries and expenses have increased from $176.490 million in FY2000 to $269.500 million in FY2017. This increase has exceeded the rate of inflation.⁷

The SBA has statutory authorization to transfer appropriations from the business loan administration account into the salaries and expenses account. As evidenced by the amounts listed in the total available funds column in the table, the SBA exercised that authority in every fiscal year from FY2000 to FY2016 (and is expected to do so again in FY2017), transferring the entire appropriation for business loan administration into the salaries and expenses account in each of those fiscal years.

Business Loan Administration

The SBA's business loan administration account provides funding for administrative expenses to carry out the SBA's direct (Microloan) and guaranteed business loan programs (e.g., 7[a], 504/Certified Development Company [CDC]).⁸ As shown in Table 3, appropriations for SBA business loan administration have varied from year to year since FY2000, with increases in some years and decreases in others. Overall, appropriations for SBA business loan administration increased from ⁷ The SBA's FY2017 appropriation of $269.500 million for salaries and expenses is $193.208 million in constant FY2000 dollars (adjusted for inflation), which is higher than the SBA's FY2000 appropriation of $176.490 million for salaries and expenses. CRS calculation using inflation data from U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB), "Budget of the United States Government, FY2017: Historical Tables, Table 10.1 – Gross Domestic Product and Deflators Used in the Historical Tables: 1940–2021," at <https://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/BUDGET-2017-TAB/pdf/BUDGET-2017-TAB.pdf>. Also, the salaries and expenses account includes appropriations for congressional initiatives (earmarks). Congress no longer provides appropriations for congressional initiatives. It could be argued that excluding appropriations for congressional initiatives could result in more meaningful comparisons with current appropriations. If those appropriations are excluded, the increase in appropriations for the salaries and expenses account further exceeds the rate of inflation. Appropriations for congressional initiatives were $30.0 million in FY2000; $40 million in FY2001; $30.0 million in FY2002; $58.45 million in FY2003; $45.9 million in FY2004; $41.0 million in FY2005; $91.0 million in FY2006; $0.0 in FY2007 (the SBA was funded by a continuing resolution in FY2007, meaning no new congressional initiatives were specified in the language accompanying the appropriations act); $69.451 million in FY2008; $65.654 million in FY2009; and $59.0 million in FY2010 (available until September 30, 2011). The Department of Defense and Full-Year Continuing Appropriations Act, 2011, Section 1566, eliminated appropriations earmarked for congressional initiatives related to small business development and entrepreneurship in FY2011. The SBA spent $10.865 million on congressional initiatives in FY2011, presumably using appropriations made available in FY2010 until September 30, 2011.

As evidenced by the $0.0 balance in the total funds available column for the business loan administration account, the SBA has routinely transferred all business loan administration appropriations to the salaries and expenses account. The combined appropriations for SBA salaries and expenses and business loan administration increased from $305.490 million in FY2000 to $422.226 million in FY2017. This increase has not kept pace with inflation.¹⁰

Office of Inspector General

According to the SBA, the OIG's mission is to "provide independent, objective oversight to improve the integrity, accountability, and performance of the SBA and its programs for the benefit of the American people.”¹¹ The office was created within the SBA by the Inspector General Act of 1978 (P.L. 95-452, as amended). The inspector general, who is nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate, directs the office. The Inspector General Act provides the OIG with the following responsibilities:

- promote economy, efficiency, and effectiveness in the management of SBA programs and supporting operations;
- conduct and supervise audits, investigations, and reviews relating to the SBA’s programs and support operations;
- detect and prevent fraud, waste, and abuse;
- review existing and proposed legislation and regulations and make appropriate recommendations;
- maintain effective working relationships with other governmental agencies and nongovernmental entities regarding the inspector general’s mandated duties;
- keep the SBA administrator and Congress informed of serious problems and recommend corrective actions and implementation measures;
- comply with the comptroller general’s audit standards;
- avoid duplication of Government Accountability Office activities; and
- report violations of federal criminal law to the U.S. attorney general.¹²

As shown in Table 4, the OIG’s appropriations have increased from $11.405 million in FY2000 to $20.900 million in FY2017. This increase has exceeded the rate of inflation.¹³

The OIG typically receives a transfer of appropriations from the disaster assistance account for auditing expenses. It was also provided additional appropriations in FY2006 and FY2013 for expenses related to the review of SBA disaster loans following major hurricanes (primarily from Hurricanes Katrina, Rita, and Wilma in 2005 and Hurricane Sandy in 2012) and in FY2009 to conduct reviews and audits of $730 million provided to the SBA by P.L. 111-5, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

Office of Advocacy¹⁴

The SBA indicates that its Office of Advocacy is “an independent voice for small business within the federal government.”¹⁵ The chief counsel for Advocacy, who is nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate, directs the office. Advocacy’s mission is to “encourage policies that support the development and growth of American small businesses” by

- intervening early in federal agencies’ regulatory development processes on proposals that affect small businesses and providing Regulatory Flexibility Act compliance training to federal agency policymakers and regulatory development officials;
- producing research to inform policymakers and other stakeholders on the impact of federal regulatory burdens on small businesses, document the vital role of small businesses in the economy, and explore and explain the wide variety of issues of concern to the small business community; and
- fostering two-way communication between federal agencies and the small business community.¹⁶

P.L. 111-240, the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010, enhanced Advocacy’s independence by ending the practice of funding Advocacy through the SBA’s salaries and expenses’ executive direction subaccount. Instead, P.L. 111-240 required the President to provide a separate statement of the appropriations request for Advocacy, “which shall be designated in a separate account in the General Fund of the Treasury.” The act also requires the SBA administrator to provide Advocacy with “appropriate and adequate office space at central and field office locations, together with such equipment, operating budget, and communications facilities and services as may be necessary, and ... necessary maintenance services for such offices and the equipment and facilities located in such offices.” In addition, Congress has provided Advocacy its own, separate appropriations amount since FY2012.

As shown in Table 5, Advocacy’s funding has increased from $5.620 million in FY2000 to $9.220 million in FY2017. This increase has exceeded the rate of inflation.¹⁷

¹⁷ Advocacy’s FY2017 appropriation of $9.220 million is $6.610 million in constant FY2000 dollars (adjusted for inflation), which is higher than Advocacy’s FY2000 funding from the salaries and expenses’ executive direction subaccount of $5.620 million. CRS calculation using inflation data from U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB), “Budget of the United States Government, FY2017: Historical Tables, Table 10.1 – Gross Domestic Product and Deflators Used in the Historical Tables: 1940–2021,” at <https://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/BUDGET-2017-TAB/pdf/BUDGET-2017-TAB.pdf>.

- a. In FY3013, P.L. 112-25 and P.L. 113-6 imposed a federal government-wide sequestration process and a required 0.2% across-the-board rescission, resulting in a $0.477 million reduction for Advocacy.
- b. Estimate of the funding provided from the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount, assuming that 79% of Advocacy's reported total program cost was provided from the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount, as it was in FY2003, FY2004, and FY2005.

As mentioned previously, prior to FY2012, the SBA's budgetary documents reported Advocacy's total program cost, which includes funding provided through the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount, agency-wide overhead costs (rent, telecommunications, etc.), and other support costs (e.g., management and administrative support, including human resources support). From FY2000 to FY2005, the SBA's budgetary documents provided relatively detailed information concerning Advocacy's budget, including the amount of funding Advocacy received through the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount. Also, Advocacy's FY2013 congressional budget justification document included the amount of funding Advocacy received through the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount in FY2011. However, those data are not available for FY2006-FY2010, and it was therefore necessary to estimate Advocacy's funding from the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount for those years. The estimates provided in the table were derived by multiplying Advocacy's total program cost for each of those fiscal years by 79%, which was the proportion of Advocacy's total program costs provided from the salaries and expenses' executive direction subaccount in FY2003, FY2004, and FY2005.

Entrepreneurial Development Noncredit Programs¹⁸

The SBA's entrepreneurial development (ED) noncredit programs provide a variety of management and training services to small businesses. Congress provides appropriations for

- eight management and technical assistance training programs: Small Business Development Centers, the Microloan Technical Assistance Program, Women Business Centers, SCORE, the Program for Investment in Microentrepreneurs (PRIME), Veterans Programs (including Veterans Business Outreach Centers, Boots to Business, Boots to Business: Reboot, Veteran Women Igniting the Spirit of Entrepreneurship [VWISE], and Entrepreneurship Bootcamp for Veterans with Disabilities), the 7(j) Technical Assistance Program, and the Native American Outreach Program;
- two relatively long-standing nontraining programs: the National Women's Business Council and HUBZone administration;
- three initiatives: the Entrepreneurial Development Initiative (Clusters), the Entrepreneurship Education Initiative, and Growth Accelerators; and
- the Step Trade and Export Promotion (STEP) Pilot Grant program.¹⁹

¹⁹ P.L. 111-240, the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010, authorized the Step Trade and Export Promotion (STEP) Pilot Grant program for three years and appropriated $30 million for the program both in FY2011 and FY2012. The SBA awarded STEP grants to states with the goal of assisting eligible small businesses with exporting in FY2011 and FY2012. The STEP program's authorization expired at the end of FY2013. P.L. 113-76, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2014, appropriated $8.0 million for another round of STEP grants in FY2014. P.L. 113-235, the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2015, appropriated $17.4 million for another round of STEP grants in FY2015. P.L. 114-113, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2016, provided $18.0 million for another round of STEP grants in FY2016. P.L. 115-31, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2017, provided $18.0 million for (continued...)

Initially, the SBA provided its own management and technical assistance training programs. Over time, however, the administration has come to rely increasingly on third parties to provide that training. The SBA reports that more than 1 million aspiring entrepreneurs and small business owners receive training from an SBA-supported resource partner each year.²⁰

Congress specifies appropriations in appropriations acts for the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) program, the Microloan Technical Assistance program, and the STEP Pilot Grant program. Congress provides an overall appropriation for the SBA's ED programs and recommends appropriations for the SBA's other ED programs, typically in the conference agreement or "Explanatory Statement" accompanying the appropriations act. As a result, the following tables refer to appropriations for the SBDC and Microloan Technical Assistance programs and recommended appropriations for SBA's other ED programs. Although recommended appropriation amounts are not legally binding, the SBA has traditionally adhered to these funding levels.

Small Business Development Centers

SBDCs provide free or low-cost assistance to small businesses using programs customized to local conditions. SBDCs support small business in marketing and business strategy, finance, technology transfer, government contracting, management, manufacturing, engineering, sales, accounting, exporting, and other topics. They are funded by grants from the SBA and matching funds. There are 63 lead SBDC service centers, at least one in each state (with four in Texas and six in California), the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa. These lead SBDC service centers manage more than 900 SBDC outreach locations.

As shown in Table 6, appropriations for SBDCs have increased from $84.179 million in FY2000 to $125.000 million in FY2017. This increase has exceeded the rate of inflation.²¹ In addition, as shown in the table, SBDCs received an additional $50 million in temporary funding in FY2010, which was spent over two fiscal years.²²

The SBA reports actual expenditures for its ED programs in its annual budget justification document. Actual expenditures for SBDCs are presented in the table's last column for comparative purposes.

²² In recent years, SBDCs and their advocates have indicated an interest in receiving additional funding to implement several of the Obama Administration's management and training initiatives in lieu of (or in combination with) those initiatives receiving their own, separate appropriations.

Microloan Technical Assistance Program

The SBA's Microloan lending program is designed to address the perceived disadvantages faced by women, low-income, veteran, and minority entrepreneurs and business owners in gaining access to capital for starting or expanding their business (see P.L. 102-140, the Departments of Commerce, Justice, and State, the Judiciary, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1992). Under the Microloan program, the SBA provides direct loans to qualified nonprofit intermediary Microloan lenders who, in turn, provide "microloans" of up to $50,000 to small business owners, entrepreneurs, and nonprofit child care centers.

The SBA's Microloan Technical Assistance program is part of the SBA's Microloan program but receives a separate appropriation. It provides grants to Microloan intermediaries to offer management and technical training assistance to Microloan program borrowers and prospective borrowers.²³ There are currently 140 active Microloan intermediaries (defined as having made at least four Microloans in FY2016), serving 49 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.²⁴

As shown in Table 7, the Microloan Technical Assistance program's appropriations have varied over the years, with increases in some years and decreases in others. Decreases occurred primarily during the early 2000s. Overall, appropriations for the Microloan Technical Assistance Program increased from $23.112 million in FY2000 to $31.000 million in FY2017. This increase has been less than the rate of inflation.²⁵ Actual expenditures for the Microloan Technical Assistance program appear in the table's last column for comparative purposes.

²³ For further analysis of the SBA's Microloan program, see CRS Report R41057, Small Business Administration Microloan Program, by (name redacted) .

As of September 27, 2016, there were no Microloan intermediaries serving Alaska. An intermediary may not operate in more than one state unless the SBA determines that it would be in the best interests of the small business community for it to operate across state lines. For example, Microloan intermediaries located in Hamden, Connecticut and Taunton, Massachusetts are allowed to serve small businesses located in Rhode Island because of their proximity to the state and there are currently no Microloan intermediaries located in Rhode Island.

²⁵ The Microloan Technical Assistance program's FY2017 appropriation of $31.000 million is $22.224 million in constant FY2000 dollars (adjusted for inflation), which is less than its FY2000 appropriation of $23.112 million. CRS calculation using inflation data from U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB), "Budget of the United States Government, FY2017: Historical Tables, Table 10.1 – Gross Domestic Product and Deflators Used in the Historical Tables: 1940–2021," at <https://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/BUDGET-2017-TAB/pdf/BUDGET-2017-TAB.pdf>.

Women Business Centers

Women Business Centers (WBCs) provide financial, management, and marketing assistance to small businesses, including start-up businesses, owned and controlled by women. Since its inception, the program has targeted the needs of socially and economically disadvantaged women (see P.L. 100-533, the Women’s Business Ownership Act of 1988).²⁶ Currently, there are 111 WBCs located throughout most of the United States and the territories.²⁷

As shown in Table 8, WBC’s recommended appropriations have increased from $8.966 million in FY2000 to $18.000 million in FY2017. This increase has exceeded the rate of inflation.²⁸ Actual expenditures for the WBC program are presented in the table’s last column for comparative purposes.

SCORE

The SBA provides financial assistance to SCORE (formerly the Service Corps of Retired Executives) to provide in-person mentoring and online training to small business owners and prospective owners.²⁹ SCORE’s 320 chapters and more than 800 branch offices are located throughout the United States and partner with more than 11,000 volunteer counselors, who are working or retired business owners, executives and corporate leaders, to provide management and training assistance to small businesses “at no charge or at very low cost.”³⁰

As shown in Table 9, SCORE’s recommended appropriations have increased from $3.487 million in FY2000 to $10.500 in FY2017. This increase has exceeded the rate of inflation.³¹ Actual expenditures for SCORE are presented in the table’s last column for comparative purposes.

Program for Investment in Microentrepreneurs

The Program for Investment in Microentrepreneurs (PRIME) provides SBA grants to nonprofit microenterprise development organizations or programs that have “a demonstrated record of delivering microenterprise services to disadvantaged entrepreneurs; an intermediary; a microenterprise development organization or program that is accountable to a local community, working in conjunction with a state or local government or Indian tribe; or an Indian tribe acting on its own, if the Indian tribe can certify that no private organization or program referred to in this paragraph exists within its jurisdiction.”³²

As shown in Table 10, PRIME’s recommended appropriations have varied from year to year and, in recent years, have decreased. Overall, PRIME’s recommended appropriations have decreased from $14.964 million in FY2001 (the program’s first recommended appropriation) to $5.000 million in FY2017. Actual expenditures for PRIME are presented in the table’s last column for comparative purposes.

The Obama Administration argued that PRIME overlaps and duplicates the SBA’s Microloan Technical Assistance program and recommended in its FY2012-FY2017 budget requests that PRIME receive no appropriations. As shown in the table, in FY2013, the Obama Administration eliminated PRIME’s appropriation as part of the SBA’s sequestration process.

The Trump Administration recommended in its FY2018 budget blueprint that the PRIME program receive no appropriations.³³

Veterans Programs

The SBA’s Office of Veterans Business Development (OVBD) administers several management and training programs to assist veteran-owned businesses, including

- the Entrepreneurship Bootcamp for Veterans with Disabilities Consortium of Universities, which provides “experiential training in entrepreneurship and small business management to post-9/11 veterans with disabilities” at eight universities;³⁴
- the Veteran Women Igniting the Spirit of Entrepreneurship (V-WISE) program, which is administered through a cooperative agreement with Syracuse University, offers women veterans a 15-day, online course focused on entrepreneurship skills and the “language of business,” followed by a 3-day conference (offered twice a year at varying locations) in which participants “are exposed to successful entrepreneurs and CEOs of Fortune 500 companies and leaders in government” and participate in courses on business planning, marketing, accounting and finance, operations and production, human resources, and work-life balance;³⁵
- the Operation Endure and Grow Program, which is administered through a cooperative agreement with Syracuse University, offers an eight-week online

- training program “focused on the fundamentals of launching and/or growing a small business” and is available to National Guard and reservists and their family members;³⁶
- the Boots to Business program (started in 2012), which is “an elective track within the Department of Defense’s revised Training Assistance Program called Transition Goals, Plans, Success (Transition GPS) and has three parts: the Entrepreneurship Track Overview—a 10-minute introductory video shown during the mandatory five-day Transition GPS course which introduces entrepreneurship as a post-service career option; Introduction to Entrepreneurship—a two-day classroom course on entrepreneurship and business fundamentals offered as one of the three Transition GPS elective tracks; and Foundations of Entrepreneurship—an eight-week, instructor-led online course that offers in-depth instruction on the elements of a business plan and tips and techniques for starting a business”;³⁷
 - the Boots to Business Reboot program (started in 2014), which assists veterans who have already transitioned to civilian life;³⁸ and
 - the Veterans Business Outreach Centers (VBOC) program, which provides veterans and their spouses management and technical assistance training at 15 locations, including assistance with the Boots to Business program, the development and maintenance of a five-year business plan, and referrals to other SBA resource partners when appropriate for additional training or mentoring services.³⁹

Prior to FY2016, Congress recommended appropriations for VBOCs and, in FY2014 and FY2015, for the Boots to Business initiative ($7.0 million in FY2014 and $7.5 million in FY2015). Funding for the OVBD’s other veterans assistance programs were provided through the SBA’s salaries and expenses account.

In FY2016 and FY2017, Congress did not provide separate recommended appropriations for VBOCs and the Boots to Business initiative. Instead, in both FY2016 and FY2017, Congress provided a recommended appropriation of $12.3 million for the OVBD’s programs as a whole.⁴⁰

7(j) Technical Assistance Program

The SBA’s 7(j) Technical Assistance Program provides “a wide variety of management and technical assistance to eligible individuals or concerns to meet their specific needs, including: (a) counseling and training in the areas of financing, management, accounting, bookkeeping, marketing, and operation of small business concerns; and (b) the identification and development of new business opportunities.”⁴² Eligible individuals and businesses include “8(a) certified firms, small disadvantaged businesses, businesses operating in areas of high unemployment, or low income or firms owned by low income individuals.”⁴³

Native American Outreach Program

The SBA’s Native American Outreach (NAO) program provides management and technical educational assistance to American Indians, Alaska natives, native Hawaiians, and “the indigenous people of Guam and American Samoa . . . to promote entity-owned and individual 8(a) certification, government contracting, entrepreneurial education, and capital access.”⁴⁴ The program’s management and technical assistance services are available to members of these groups living in most areas of the nation.⁴⁵

As shown in Table 14, the NAO program’s recommended appropriations have varied somewhat since FY2003 (the first year it received recommended appropriations), ranging from $1.0 million to $2.0 million. The program’s recommended appropriations have not kept pace with inflation.⁴⁶ The NAO program’s actual expenditures are presented in the table’s last column for comparative purposes.

⁴⁶ The SBA’s FY2017 appropriation of $2.000 million for the Native American Outreach Program is $1.520 million in constant FY2003 dollars (adjusted for inflation), which is lower than its initial FY2003 recommended appropriation of $1.987 million. National Women’s Business Council

The National Women’s Business Council (NWBC) is a bipartisan federal advisory council created to serve as an independent source of advice and counsel to the President, Congress, and the SBA on economic issues of importance to women business owners. The council’s mission “is to promote bold initiatives, policies, and programs designed to support women’s business enterprises at all stages of development in the public and private sector marketplaces—from start-up to success to significance.”⁴⁷

As shown in Table 15, the recommended appropriation for the NWBC has increased from $0.598 million in FY2000 to $1.500 million in FY2017. This increase has exceeded the rate of inflation.⁴⁸ The NWBC’s actual expenditures are presented in the table’s last column for comparative purposes.

HUBZone Administration

The HUBZone program helps small businesses located in designated Historically Underutilized Business Zones (HUBZones) to compete for federal contracts. Federal agencies may award contracts directly to HUBZone-certified small businesses through a sole-source contract, limit contact competitions to HUBZone-certified firms through a contract set-aside, or provide HUBZone-certified firms a price evaluation preference in full and open competitions.⁴⁹

The HUBZone program was initially funded through the SBA’s salary and expenses account. As shown in Table 16, Congress started recommending an appropriation for the program in FY2004. This recommended appropriation remained relatively stable until FY2015, when it increased to $3.000 million. With the recent increase, the HUBZone program’s recommended appropriations have exceeded inflation.⁵⁰ The HUBZone program’s actual expenditures are presented in the table’s last column for comparative purposes.

⁴⁹ For additional information and analysis concerning the HUBZone program, see CRS Report R41268, Small Business Administration HUBZone Program, by (name redacted) .

The SBA reports that “regional innovative clusters are on-the-ground collaborations between business, research, education, financing and government institutions that work to develop and grow a particular industry or related set of industries in a particular geographic region.”⁵¹ The SBA has supported regional innovative clusters since FY2009, and the initiative has received recommended appropriations from Congress since FY2010.

As shown in Table 17, funding for the Entrepreneurial Development Initiative (Clusters) initiative has been reduced from a recommended appropriation of $10.000 million in FY2010 to $5.000 million in FY2017. The table’s last column indicates that the SBA’s actual expenditures for the initiative have often been less than the amount appropriated.

The Trump Administration recommended in its FY2018 budget blueprint that the Entrepreneurial Development Initiative receive no appropriations.⁵²

Entrepreneurship Education Initiative

The SBA’s Entrepreneurship Education initiative offers high-growth small businesses in underserved communities “a seven-month executive leader education series” consisting of “more than 100 hours of specialized training, technical resources, a professional networking system, and other resources to strengthen their business model and promote economic development within urban communities.”⁵³ At the conclusion of the training, “participants produce a three-year strategic growth action plan with benchmarks and performance targets that help them access the necessary support and resources to move forward for the next stage of business growth.”⁵⁴

As shown in Table 18, the Entrepreneurship Education initiative received its first recommended appropriation from Congress in FY2014 ($5.0 million), $7.0 million in FY2015, and $10.0 million in FY2016 and FY2017.

Growth Accelerator Initiative

The SBA describes growth accelerators as “organizations that help entrepreneurs start and scale their businesses.”⁵⁵ Growth accelerators are typically run by experienced entrepreneurs and help small businesses access seed capital and mentors. The SBA claims that growth accelerators “help

Notes: The SBA had a single revolving loan fund for both disaster and business loans until 1966 (P.L. 89-409). For FY1954 through FY1958, budgetary documents indicated the amount provided to the revolving loan fund, which was designated for disaster assistance, and the amount designated for business loans. For FY1959 through FY1966, budgetary documents no longer provided this level of specificity. In FY1959, $27.5 million was provided for management and training grants, which were awarded through FY1960. The SBA reported that most of the increase in funding for other programs in FY1970 was due to an increase in funding for the SBA's minority management and technical assistance grant program. Most of the increase in funding for other programs in FY1977 was due to the provision of $36 million for the surety bond guarantee program and $15 million for the pollution control equipment guarantee revolving fund.
