

Congressional Research Service

Informing the legislative debate since 1914

Women in Congress: Statistics and Brief Overview

-name redacted-

Information Research Specialist

-name redacted-

Specialist on the Congress

Updated May 17, 2018

Congressional Research Service

7-....

www.crs.gov

R43244

Summary

A record 112 women currently serve in the 115th Congress: 89 in the House (including Delegates and the Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico; 64 Democrats and 25 Republicans) and 23 in the Senate (17 Democrats and 6 Republicans). This surpasses the previous record from the 114th Congress (108 women initially sworn in, and 1 House Member subsequently elected).

The first woman elected to Congress was Representative Jeannette Rankin (R-MT, 1917-1919, 1941-1943). The first woman to serve in the Senate was Rebecca Latimer Felton (D-GA). She was appointed in 1922 and served for only one day. Hattie Caraway (D-AR, 1931-1945) was the first Senator to succeed her husband and the first woman elected to a six-year Senate term.

A total of 329 women have been elected or appointed to Congress, including 212 Democrats and 117 Republicans. These figures include six nonvoting Delegates (one each from Guam, Hawaii, the District of Columbia, and American Samoa and two from the U.S. Virgin Islands), as well as one Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico. Of these,

- 277 (178 Democrats, 99 Republicans) women have been elected only to the House of Representatives.
- 40 (25 Democrats, 15 Republicans) women have been elected or appointed only to the Senate;
- 12 (9 Democrats, 3 Republicans) women have served in both houses;
- 41 African American women have served in Congress (2 in the Senate, 39 in the House), including 21 serving in the 115th Congress;
- 13 Asian Pacific American women have served in Congress (10 in the House, 1 in the Senate, and 2 in both the House and Senate), including 11 in the 115th Congress; and
- 13 Hispanic women have been elected to the House, and 1 to the Senate; 11 serve in the 115th Congress.

In the 115th Congress, two women currently chair House committees (an additional female chair stepped down), one woman chairs a Senate standing committee, and one woman chairs a Senate select committee.

This report includes historical information, including the number and percentage of women in Congress over time, means of entry to Congress, comparisons to international and state legislatures, records for tenure, firsts for women in Congress, women in leadership, and African American, Asian Pacific American, and Hispanic women in Congress, as well as a brief overview of research questions related to the role and impact of women in Congress. Table A-1 in the Appendix provides details on the total number of women who have served in each Congress, including information on changes within a Congress. The report may reflect data at the beginning or end of each Congress, or changes during a Congress. See the notes throughout the report for information on the currency and coverage of the data.

For additional biographical information—including the committee assignments, dates of service, listings by Congress and state, and (for Representatives) congressional districts of the 329 women who have been elected or appointed to Congress—see CRS Report RL30261, Women in Congress, 1917-2018: Service Dates and Committee Assignments by Member, and Lists by State and Congress, by (name redacted) and (name redacted) .

Contents

Introduction	1
How Women Enter Congress: Regular Elections, Special Elections, and Appointments	6
Women in Congress as Compared with Women in Other Legislative Bodies.....	7
International Perspective	7
State-House Perspective.....	7
Female Election Firsts in Congress	9
Records for Length of Service.....	9
Women Who Have Served in Both Houses	9
African American Women in Congress	10
Asian Pacific American Women in Congress	11
Hispanic Women in Congress.....	11
Women Who Have Served in Party Leadership Positions.....	12
Women and Leadership of Congressional Committees.....	14
Women in Congress: Examinations of their Role and Impact	14

Figures

Figure 1. Number of Women by Congress: 1917-2017.....	3
Figure 2. Percentage of Women by Congress: 1917-2017	4
Figure 3. Women as a Percentage of Total Members Since 1789 and in the 115 th Congress	4
Figure 4. Number of Women in the House and Senate by State, District, or Territory, 1917-Present.....	5
Figure 5. Women’s Initial Entrance to the Senate: Regular Elections, Special Elections, and Appointments to Unexpired Terms	7
Figure 6. Women in Congress and State Legislatures: 1971-2017.....	8

Tables

Table 1. Women Members of Congress: Summary Statistics, 1917-Present.....	1
Table 2. Number of Women Members of the 115 th Congress.....	2
Table 3. African American Women in the 115 th Congress	10
Table 4. Asian Pacific American Women in the 115 th Congress.....	11
Table 5. Hispanic Women in the 115 th Congress	11
Table 6. Selected Congressional Party Leadership Positions Held by Women	12
Table 7. Committees Chaired by Women, 115 th Congress	14
Table A-1. Congressional Service by Women: By Type and by Congress, 1917-2018.....	17

Appendixes

Appendix. Total Number of Women Who Served in Each Congress 17

Contacts

Author Contact Information 19

Introduction

A total of 329 women have been elected or appointed to the U.S. Congress. The first woman, Jeannette Rankin (R-MT), was elected on November 9, 1916, to the 65th Congress (1917-March 4, 1919).

Table 1 details this service by women in the House, Senate, and both chambers.¹

Table 1. Women Members of Congress: Summary Statistics, 1917-Present
(Inclusive through May 11, 2018)

	Total Women	Senate Service Only	House Service Only (Representatives)	House Service Only (Delegates and Resident Commissioner)	House Service Only (Subtotal)	Women who have Served in Both Chambers
Total	329 ^a	40	270	7 ^a	277 ^a	12
Democrats	212	25	174	4	178	9
Republicans	117	15	96	3	99	3

Source: U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian and Office of Art and Archives, “Women in Congress,” <http://history.house.gov/Exhibition-and-Publications/WIC/Women-in-Congress>.

Notes: The House and Senate totals each include one woman who was elected but never sworn in.

- a. The total number of female Members of the House includes one Delegate to the House of Representatives from Hawaii prior to statehood, one from the District of Columbia, one from Guam, one from American Samoa, and two from the U.S. Virgin Islands as well as one Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico.

The 115th Congress began with 109 women, and 112 women currently serve (one woman was subsequently elected to the House in June 2017, one woman was appointed to the Senate in December 2017, one woman in the House died in March 2018, one woman was appointed to the Senate in April 2018, and one woman was elected to the House in April 2018). Table 2 shows that

- women account for 20.0% of voting Members in the House and Senate (107 of 535);
- women account for 20.7% of total Members in the House and Senate (112 of 541, including the Delegates and Resident Commissioner);
- women account for 19.3% of voting Representatives in the House (84 of 435); and
- women account for 20.2% of total Members in the House (89 of 441, including the Delegates and Resident Commissioner).

¹ Throughout this report, House and Senate totals each include one woman elected but not sworn in or seated due to the House or Senate being out of session. Both women are included in various official congressional publications, including, for example, the Biographical Directory of the United States Congress (<http://bioguide.congress.gov>), “Women in Congress” (<http://history.house.gov/Exhibition-and-Publications/WIC/Women-in-Congress>) and “Senators of the United States 1789-present: a chronological list of senators since the First Congress in 1789,” maintained by the Senate Historical Office (<http://www.senate.gov/artandhistory/history/resources/pdf/chronlist.pdf>).

Table 2. Number of Women Members of the 115th Congress

	Total Women	Senators	Representatives	Nonvoting Members (Delegates and Resident Commissioner)	House Subtotal (Representatives and Nonvoting Members)
Total	112	23	84	5	89
Democrats	81	17	61	3	64
Republicans	31	6	23	2	25

Source: U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian and Office of Art and Archives, “Women in Congress,” <http://history.house.gov/Exhibition-and-Publications/WIC/Women-in-Congress>.

Notes: The 115th Congress began with 109 women Members in the House and Senate. One woman was subsequently elected to the House in June 2017, one woman was appointed to the Senate in December 2017, one woman in the House died in March 2018, and another woman was appointed to the Senate in April 2018, and one woman was elected to the House in April 2018. Four of the women who serve in the House are Delegates, representing the District of Columbia, Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and American Samoa. One woman serves as the Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico. Information in this table is current as of the date of the report.

This report includes historical information, including the (1) number and percentage of women in Congress over time; (2) means of entry to Congress; (3) comparisons to international and state legislatures; (4) records for tenure; (5) firsts for women in Congress; (6) African American, Asian Pacific, and Hispanic American women in Congress; and (7) women in leadership. It also provides a brief overview of research questions related to the role and impact of women in Congress.

For additional biographical information—including the names, committee assignments, dates of service, listings by Congress and state, and (for Representatives) congressional districts of the women who have served in Congress—see CRS Report RL30261, Women in Congress, 1917-2018: Service Dates and Committee Assignments by Member, and Lists by State and Congress, by (name redacted) and (name redacted).

Since the 65th Congress (1917-1918), the number of women serving in Congress has increased incrementally, and on a few occasions decreased. The largest increase occurred in the 103rd Congress (1993-1994), when the total number of women in the House and Senate serving at one time rose from 32 in the 102nd Congress to 54, an increase of nearly 69%. The 1992 election came to be known popularly as the “Year of the Woman” due to the large electoral increase of women in Congress.²

Figure 1 charts the changes in the number of women serving in Congress. For a table showing the total number of women who have served in each Congress, including information on turnover within a Congress, please see Table A-1 in the Appendix.

² The Year of the Woman: Myths and Realities, ed. Elizabeth Adell Cook, Sue Thomas, and Clyde Wilcox (Boulder, CO: Westview Press, 1994).

Figure 1. Number of Women by Congress: 1917-2017
 Data for the 115th Congress are for the beginning of the Congress

Source: “Women in the U.S. Congress 2017” fact sheet, Center for American Women and Politics, Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University. Figure compiled by CRS.

Notes: Delegates and the Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico are not included in the data. The fact sheet indicates that data in the “table for Congresses prior to the current one shows maximum number of women elected or appointed to serve in that Congress at one time. Some filled out unexpired terms and some were never sworn in.”

Figure 2 shows the percentage of women in the House, Senate, and total each Congress since the first woman was elected in 1917 (not including nonvoting Members).

Figure 3 shows that from the 1st Congress (1789) through the beginning of the 115th Congress (2017), women number

- 50 (2.54%) of the total 1,970 current and former Senators;
- 281 (2.57%) of the 10,940 current and former Representatives (including those who served in both chambers but not including Delegates or Resident Commissioners); and
- 319 (2.61%) of the 12,238 total persons who have served in Congress (not including Delegates or Resident Commissioners).

Figure 2. Percentage of Women by Congress: 1917-2017

Data for the 115th Congress are for the beginning of the Congress

Source: “Women in the U.S. Congress 2017” fact sheet, Center for American Women and Politics, Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University. Figure compiled by CRS.

Notes: Delegates and the Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico are not included in the data. The fact sheet indicates that data in the “table for Congresses prior to the current one shows maximum number of women elected or appointed to serve in that Congress at one time. Some filled out unexpired terms and some were never sworn in.”

Figure 3. Women as a Percentage of Total Members Since 1789 and in the 115th Congress

Numbers for the 115th Congress are for the beginning of the Congress

Source: Senate Historical Office, Senators of the United States, 1789-present, available at <http://www.senate.gov/artandhistory/history/resources/pdf/chronlist.pdf>; and House of Representatives, Total Members of the House and State Representation, Last Updated January 3, 2017, <http://history.house.gov/Institution/Total-Members/Total-Members/>. This information is updated once per Congress.

Notes: The House and Senate totals each include one woman who was elected but never sworn in. Delegates and the Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico are not included in the data.

As seen in Figure 4, 49 states (all except Vermont),³ 4 territories (American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands), and the District of Columbia have been represented by a woman in Congress at some time since 1917.⁴

Five states (Washington with 10, Ohio with 11, Illinois with 16, Florida with 17, New York with 27, and California with 39) have elected 10 or more women to the House of Representatives, and 5 states (Alaska, Iowa, Mississippi, North Dakota, and Vermont) have elected none.

Fourteen states have been represented by one female Senator, 10 have sent two, and 6 states have sent three. Twenty states have never been represented by a female Senator.

Figure 4. Number of Women in the House and Senate by State, District, or Territory, 1917-Present

Inclusive through April 13, 2018; Numbers include Delegates

Source: CRS summary, based on House of Representatives, Women in Congress, available at <http://history.house.gov/Exhibition-and-Publications/WIC/Women-in-Congress/>.

Notes: The 12 women who have served in both the House and Senate are counted in each tally. Also counted are one woman from South Carolina (House) and one woman from South Dakota (Senate) who were elected but never sworn in due to the House or Senate being out of session. One woman from Arizona was sworn into the House in May 2018 and is not yet reflected in this map.

³ Vermont, however, ranks among the highest for percentage of women in state government. For additional information, see the “State-House Perspective” section.

⁴ Totals include one woman from South Carolina (House) and one woman from South Dakota (Senate) elected but never sworn in due to the House or Senate being out of session.

How Women Enter Congress: Regular Elections, Special Elections, and Appointments

Pursuant to Article I, Section 2, clause 4 of the U.S. Constitution, all Representatives enter office through election, even those who enter after a seat becomes open during a Congress.⁵ By contrast, the Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution, which was ratified on April 8, 1913, gives state legislatures the option to empower governors to fill Senate vacancies by temporary appointment.⁶

The 52 women who have served in the Senate entered initially through three different routes:

- 31 entered through regularly scheduled elections,
- 16 were appointed to unexpired terms, and
- 5 were elected by special election.⁷

As Figure 5 shows, approximately 69% of all women who have served in the Senate initially entered Senate service by winning an election (regular or special). Approximately 31% of women entered the Senate initially through an appointment.

Of the 16 women who were appointed to the Senate, 4 have served more than one year, with 3 of those women serving in more than one Congress. Half of the appointed female Senators subsequently did not seek election. Two were defeated for their party nomination, one was defeated in a general election, one was elected in a special election for the remainder of the term but was not a candidate for a full term, and three were elected to full terms. Four women who were initially appointed to the Senate serve in the 115th Congress, including two who took the oath of office in 2018.

Since the ratification of the Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution in 1913, nine years prior to the first appointment of a woman to fill a Senate vacancy, 198 Senators have been appointed.⁸ Of these appointees, 92% (182) have been men, and 8% (16) were women.⁹

⁵ “[W]hen vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.” Article I, Section 2, clause 4 of the U.S. Constitution.

⁶ Prior to the ratification of this amendment, Senators were chosen pursuant to Article I, Section 3, of the Constitution. For additional information, see Direct Election of Senators, available at http://www.senate.gov/artandhistory/history/common/briefing/Direct_Election_Senators.htm.

⁷ This includes one woman who was elected but never sworn in.

⁸ Source: “Appointed Senators” list available at http://www.senate.gov/artandhistory/history/common/briefing/senators_appointed.htm.

⁹ Total number of Senators since January 1, 1913, was derived from the Senate’s “Senators of the United States 1789-present: A chronological list of senators since the First Congress in 1789,” available at <http://www.senate.gov/artandhistory/history/resources/pdf/chronlist.pdf>. Senators are listed by date of initial service. Members who served nonconsecutive terms are counted once.

Figure 5. Women’s Initial Entrance to the Senate: Regular Elections, Special Elections, and Appointments to Unexpired Terms

Inclusive through April 13, 2018

Source: Figure compiled by CRS based on descriptions in the Biographical Directory of the United States Congress (<http://bioguide.congress.gov/biosearch/biosearch.asp>).

Women in Congress as Compared with Women in Other Legislative Bodies

International Perspective

The current total percentage of voting female representation in Congress (20.0%) is slightly lower than averages of female representation in other countries. According to the Inter-Parliamentary Union (IPU), as of January 1, 2017, women represented 23.3% of national legislative seats (both houses) across the entire world. In the IPU database of worldwide female representation, the United States ranks 104th worldwide for women in the lower chamber. The Nordic countries (Sweden, Iceland, Finland, Denmark, and Norway) lead the world regionally with 41.7% female representation in national legislatures.¹⁰ Rwanda and Bolivia have the only national legislatures in the world with a majority of women holding seats in the lower (or only) chamber.¹¹

State-House Perspective

The percentage of women in Congress also is lower than the percentage of women holding seats in state legislatures. According to the Center for American Women and Politics, in 2017, “1,830, or 24.8%, of the 7,383 state legislators in the United States are women. Women currently hold 441, or 22.4%, of the 1,972 state senate seats and 1,389, or 25.7%, of the 5,411 state house or assembly seats.”¹² Across the 50 states, the total seats held by women range from 11.1% in Wyoming to 40.0% in Vermont.¹³

¹⁰ Inter-Parliamentary Union, Women in National Parliaments, situation as of 1st January 2017, at <http://www.ipu.org/wmn-e/world.htm>. See also the archive of historical data at <http://www.ipu.org/wmn-e/world-arc.htm>. This data will be updated once per Congress.

¹¹ For statistics on women serving in the national legislatures of 193 countries, see the IPU chart at <http://www.ipu.org/wmn-e/classif.htm>; see also, Frank C. Thames and Margaret S. Williams, Contagious Representation: Women’s Political Representation in Democracies around the World (New York University Press: New York, 2013).

Since the beginning of the 92nd Congress (1971-1972), the first Congress for which comparative state legislature data are available,¹⁴ the total percentage of women in state legislatures has eclipsed the percentage of women in Congress (see Figure 6). The greatest disparity between the percentages of female voting representation in state legislatures as compared with Congress occurred in the early 1990s, when women comprised 6.0% of the total Congress in the 102nd Congress (1991-1992), but 18.3% of state legislatures in 1991. The gap has since narrowed.

Figure 6. Women in Congress and State Legislatures: 1971-2017

Data for the 115th Congress are for the beginning of the Congress

Source: Data for women legislators as a percentage of total state legislators derived from Fact Sheet, “Women in State Legislatures 2017,” and “History of Women in the U.S. Congress,” Center for American Women and Politics, Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University. Figures compiled by CRS.

Notes: Data include upper and lower chambers. Delegates and the Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico are not included in the data. The fact sheet for Congress indicates that the “table for Congresses prior to the current one shows maximum number of women elected or appointed to serve in that Congress at one time. Some filled out unexpired terms and some were never sworn in.” Data for the 115th Congress are for the beginning of the Congress.

¹² Center for American Women and Politics, Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University, Women in State Legislatures 2017, at <http://www.cawp.rutgers.edu/women-state-legislature-2017>.

¹³ Ibid.

¹⁴ The Center for American Women and Politics provides data for state legislatures for odd-numbered years. Congressional data show the maximum number of women elected or appointed to serve in a Congress at one time during that Congress.

Female Election Firsts in Congress

- First woman elected to Congress. Representative Jeannette Rankin (R-MT, 1917-1919, 1941-1943).
- First woman to serve in the Senate. Rebecca Latimer Felton (D-GA) was appointed in 1922 to fill the unexpired term of a Senator who had died in office. In addition to being the first female Senator, Mrs. Felton holds two other Senate records. Her tenure in the Senate remains the shortest ever (one day), and, at the age of 87, she is the oldest person ever to begin Senate service.
- First woman to succeed her spouse in the Senate and also the first female initially elected to a full six-year term. Hattie Caraway (D-AR, 1931-1945) was first appointed in 1931 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband, Thaddeus H. Caraway (D-AR, House, 1913-1921; Senate, 1921-1931), and then was subsequently elected to two six-year terms.
- First woman elected to the Senate without having first been appointed to serve in that body and first woman to serve in both houses of Congress. Margaret Chase Smith (R-ME) was elected to the Senate and served from January 3, 1949, until January 3, 1973. She had previously served in the House (June 3, 1940, to January 3, 1949).
- First woman elected to the Senate without first having been elected to the House or having been elected or appointed to fill an unexpired Senate term. Nancy Landon Kassebaum (R-KS, 1979-1997).
- First woman elected Speaker of the House. As Speaker of the House in the 110th and 111th Congresses (2007-2010), Nancy Pelosi held the highest position of leadership ever by a woman in the U.S. government.

Records for Length of Service

- Longest total length of service by a woman in Congress. Senator Barbara Mikulski (D-MD), who served from January 3, 1977, to January 3, 2017, holds this record (40 years, 10 of which were spent in the House). On March 17, 2012, Senator Mikulski surpassed the record previously held by Edith Nourse Rogers (R-MA).
- Longest length of service by a woman in the House. On March 18, 2019, currently serving Representative Marcy Kaptur (D-OH) surpassed the record previously held by Representative Rogers. Representative Kaptur has been serving in the House since January 3, 1983. Representative Rogers served in the House for 35 years, from June 25, 1925, until her death on September 10, 1960.
- Longest length of service by a woman in the Senate. Senator Mikulski also holds the record for length of Senate service by a woman (30 years). In January 2011, she broke the service record previously held by Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-ME), who served 24 years in the Senate and 8.6 years in the House.

Women Who Have Served in Both Houses

Twelve women have served in both the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Margaret Chase Smith (R-ME) was the first such woman, as well as the first woman elected to the Senate without first having been elected or appointed to fill a vacant Senate seat. She was first elected to the House to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband (Clyde Smith, R-ME, 1937-1940), and she served from June 10, 1940, until January 3, 1949, when she began her Senate service. She served in the Senate until January 3, 1973.

Barbara Mikulski (D-MD), Barbara Boxer (D-CA), Olympia Snowe (R-ME), Blanche Lambert Lincoln (D-AR), Debbie Stabenow (D-MI), Maria Cantwell (D-WA), Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY), Mazie Hirono (D-HI), Tammy Baldwin (D-WI), Shelley Moore Capito (R-WV), and Tammy Duckworth (D-IL) are the other women who have served in both houses.

Seven of the 12 women (the exceptions being Senators Smith, Mikulski, Boxer, Snowe, and Lincoln) continue to serve in the 115th Congress.

African American Women in Congress

Twenty-one African American women serve in the 115th Congress, including 2 Delegates, a record number. The previous record number was 20, including 2 Delegates, serving at the end of the 114th Congress.

A total of 41 African American women have served in Congress.¹⁵ The first was Representative Shirley Chisholm (D-NY, 1969-1983). Senator Carol Moseley-Braun (D-IL, 1993-1999) was the first African American woman to have served in the Senate. The African American women Members of the 115th Congress are listed in Table 3.

Table 3. African American Women in the 115th Congress

(All are House Members except for Sen. Kamala Harris)

Sen. Kamala Harris (D-CA)	Alma Adams (D-NC)	Marcia Fudge (D-OH)	Gwen Moore (D-WI)
	Karen Bass (D-CA)	Sheila Jackson Lee (D-TX)	Terri Sewell (D-AL)
	Joyce Beatty (D-OH)	Eddie Bernice Johnson (D-TX)	Maxine Waters (D-CA)
	Lisa Blunt Rochester (D-DE)	Robin Kelly (D-IL)	Bonnie Watson Coleman (D-NJ)
	Yvette Clarke (D-NY)	Brenda Lawrence (D-MI)	Frederica Wilson (D-FL)
	Val Demings (D-FL)	Barbara Lee (D-CA)	Eleanor Holmes Norton (D-DC) [Delegate]
		Mia Love (R-UT)	Stacey Plaskett (D-VI) [Delegate]

Source: U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian, <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/WIC/Historical-Data/Women-of-Color-in-Congress/>.

Note: Sen. Kamala Harris is also Asian Pacific American, and she is counted in both categories.

¹⁵ This number includes one Senator, Kamala Harris, who is of African American and Asian ancestry. In this report, this Senator is counted as belonging to two ethnic groups. For additional information, see U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian, Black Americans in Congress, at <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/BAIC/Black-Americans-in-Congress/>, and Asian and Pacific Islander Americans in Congress at <http://history.house.gov/apa/>.

Asian Pacific American Women in Congress

Eleven Asian Pacific American women, a record number, serve in the 115th Congress.¹⁶ Patsy Mink (D-HI), who served in the House from 1965 to 1977 and again from 1990 to 2002, was the first of 13 Asian Pacific American women to serve in Congress. Mazie Hirono (D-HI) is the first Asian Pacific American woman to serve in both the House and Senate.

Table 4. Asian Pacific American Women in the 115th Congress
(All House Members except for Sens. Duckworth, Harris, and Hirono)

Sen. Tammy Duckworth (D-IL)	Judy Chu (D-CA)	Doris O. Matsui (D-CA)
Sen. Kamala Harris (D-CA)	Tulsi Gabbard (D-HI)	Grace Meng (D-NY)
Sen. Mazie Hirono (D-HI)	Colleen Hanabusa (D-HI)	Stephanie Murphy (D-FL)
	Pramila Jayapal (D-WA)	Aumua Amata Coleman Radewagen (R-AS) [Delegate]

Source: U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian, <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/WIC/Historical-Data/Women-of-Color-in-Congress/> and <http://history.house.gov/apal/>.

Note: Sen. Kamala Harris is also African American, and is counted in both categories.

Hispanic Women in Congress

Fourteen Hispanic or Latino women have served in Congress, all but one in the House, and 11 of them serve in the 115th Congress. Representative Ileana Ros-Lehtinen (R-FL, 1989-present) is the first Hispanic woman to serve in Congress, and Catherine Cortez Masto (D-NV, 2017-present) is the first Hispanic woman Senator.¹⁷

Table 5. Hispanic Women in the 115th Congress
(All are House Members except for Sen. Cortez Masto)

Sen. Catherine Cortez Masto (D-NV)	Nanette Diaz Barragán (D-CA)	Jamie Herrera Beutler (R-WA)	Linda Sánchez (D-CA)
	Michelle Lujan Grisham (D-NM)	Grace Flores Napolitano (D-CA)	Norma Torres (D-CA)
	Jennifer González-Colon (R-PR) [Resident Commissioner]	Ileana Ros-Lehtinen (R-FL)	Nydia Velázquez (D-NY)
		Lucille Roybal-Allard (D-CA)

Source: U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian, at <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/WIC/Historical-Data/Women-of-Color-in-Congress/>.

¹⁶ This number includes one Senator, Kamala Harris, who is of African American and Asian ancestry. In this report, this Senator is counted as belonging to two ethnic groups.

¹⁷ For additional information, see U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian, Hispanic Americans in Congress at <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/HAIC/Hispanic-Americans-in-Congress/>.

Women Who Have Served in Party Leadership Positions¹⁸

A number of women in Congress, listed in Table 6, have held positions in their party's leadership.¹⁹ Former House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-CA) held the highest position of leadership ever held by a woman in the U.S. government. As Speaker of the House in the 110th and 111th Congresses, she was second in the line of succession for the presidency. In the 108th, 109th, and 112th-115th Congresses, she was elected the House Democratic leader. Previously, Representative Pelosi was elected House Democratic whip, in the 107th Congress, on October 10, 2001, effective January 15, 2002. She was also the first woman nominated to be Speaker of the House. Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-ME), chair of the Senate Republican Conference from 1967 to 1972, holds the Senate record for the highest, as well as first, leadership position held by a female Senator. The first woman Member to be elected to any party leadership position was Chase Going Woodhouse (D-CT), who served as House Democratic Caucus Secretary in the 81st Congress (1949-1950).

Table 6. Selected Congressional Party Leadership Positions Held by Women

Position	Member	Congresses
Speaker of the House	Nancy Pelosi (D-CA)	110 th -111 th (2007-2010)
House Democratic Leader	Nancy Pelosi (D-CA)	108 th -109 th , 112 th -115 th (2003-2006, 2011-present)
House Democratic Whip	Nancy Pelosi (D-CA)	107 th (2001-2002)
Chief Deputy Democratic Whip	Kyrsten Sinema (D-AZ)	114 th -115 th (2015-present)
	Terri Sewell (D-AL)	113 th -115 th (2013-present)
	Diana DeGette (D-CO)	112 th -115 th (2011-present)
	Janice Schakowsky (D-IL)	112 th -115 th (2011-present)
	Debbie Wasserman Schultz (D-FL)	112 th -115 th (2011-present)
	Maxine Waters (D-CA)	106 th -110 th (1999-2008)
House Democratic Caucus Vice Chair	Barbara Kennelly (D-CT)	104 th -105 th (1995-1998)
	Mary Rose Oakar (D-OH)	100 th (1987-1988)
	Linda Sánchez (D-CA)	115 th (2017-present)

¹⁸ For additional information, refer to CRS Report RL30567, Party Leaders in the United States Congress, 1789-2017, by (name redacted) . Limited information on the leadership positions held by women in Congress can also be found in CRS Report RL30261, Women in Congress, 1917-2017: Biographical and Committee Assignment Information, and Listings by State and Congress, by (name redacted) and (name redacted) .

¹⁹ U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian, "Women Elected to Party Leadership Positions, 1949–Present," <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/WIC/Historical-Data/Women-Elected-to-Party-Leadership/>.

Position	Member	Congresses
House Democratic Caucus Secretary ^a	Mary Rose Oakar (D-OH)	99 th (1985-1986)
	Geraldine Ferraro (D-NY)	97 th -98 th (1981-1984)
	Shirley Chisholm (D-NY)	95 th -96 th (1977-1980)
	Patsy Mink (D-HI)	94 th (1975-1976)
	Leonor Kretzer Sullivan (D-MO)	86 th -87 th (1959-1962), 88 th , 2 nd session-93 rd (1964-1974)
	Edna Flannery Kelly (D-NY)	83 rd -84 th (1953-1956), 88 th , 1 st session (1963)
	Chase Going Woodhouse (D-CT)	81 st (1949-1950)
House Republican Conference Chair	Cathy McMorris Rogers (R-WA)	113 th -115 th (2013-present)
	Deborah Pryce (R-OH)	108 th -109 th (2003-2006)
House Republican Conference Vice Chair	Lynn Jenkins (R-KS)	113 th -114 th (2013-2016)
	Cathy McMorris Rogers (R-WA)	111 th -112 th (2009-2012)
	Deborah Pryce (R-OH)	107 th (2001-2002)
	Kay Granger (R-TX)	110 th (2007-2008)
	Tillie Fowler (R-FL)	106 th (1999-2000)
	Jennifer Dunn (R-WA)	105 th (1997-1998)
	Susan Molinari (R-NY)	104 th -105 th (1995-Aug. 1997)
House Republican Conference Secretary	Lynn Martin (R-IL)	99 th -100 th (1985-1988)
	Virginia Foxx (R-NC)	113 th -114 th (2013-2016)
	Barbara Cubin (R-WY)	107 th (2001-2002)
	Deborah Pryce (R-OH)	106 th (1999-2000)
Senate Republican Conference Chair	Barbara Vucanovich (R-NV)	104 th (1995-1996)
	Margaret Chase Smith (R-ME)	90 th -92 nd (1967-1972)
Senate Republican Conference Vice Chair ^b	Lisa Murkowski (R-AK)	111 th (2009-2010)
	Kay Bailey Hutchison (R-TX)	107 th -109 th (2001-2006)
Senate Democratic Conference Vice Chair	Elizabeth Warren (D-MA)	115 th (2017-present)
Senate Democratic Conference Secretary	Tammy Baldwin (D-WI)	115 th (2017-present)
	Patty Murray (D-WA)	110 th -114 th (2007-2016)
	Debbie Stabenow (D-MI)	109 th (2005-2006)
	Barbara Mikulski (D-MD)	104 th -108 th (1995-2004)
Senate Chief Deputy Democratic Whip	Barbara Boxer (D-CA)	110 th -114 th (2007-2016)

Source: U.S. Congress, House, Office of the Historian, <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/WIC/Historical-Data/Women-Elected-to-Party-Leadership/>, and CRS Report RL30567, Party Leaders in the United States Congress, 1789-2017, by (name redacted) .

- a. The title of this position changed from “Secretary” to “Vice Chair” with the 100th Congress.
- b. This position was previously known as the Conference Secretary.

Women and Leadership of Congressional Committees

As chair of the House Expenditures in the Post Office Department Committee (67th-68th Congresses), Mae Ella Nolan was the first woman to chair any congressional committee. As chair of the Senate Enrolled Bills Committee (73rd-78th Congresses), Hattie Caraway was the first woman to chair a Senate committee. In total,

- 20 women have chaired a House committee;
- 13 women have chaired a Senate committee;
- 1 female Senator has chaired two joint committees (related to her service on a standing committee); and
- 2 female Representatives have chaired a joint committee.²⁰

In the 115th Congress, there are currently four committees led by women: two standing committees in the House, one standing committee in the Senate, and one select committee in the Senate. An additional House committee chair served until January 11, 2018.

Table 7. Committees Chaired by Women, 115th Congress

Committee	Chair
House Committee on the Budget	Diane Black (R-TN) [until January 11, 2018]
House Committee on Education and the Workforce	Virginia Foxx (R-NC)
House Committee on Ethics	Susan Brooks (R-IN)
Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources	Lisa Murkowski (R-AK)
Senate Special Committee on Aging	Susan Collins (R-ME)

Source: “Women Who Have Chaired Congressional Committees in the U.S. House, 1923-present” table of the Women in Congress website at <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/WIC/Historical-Data/Women-Chairs-of-Congressional-Committees/>; and the “Committee Assignments of the 115th Congress” website at http://www.senate.gov/general/committee_assignments/assignments.htm.

Women in Congress: Examinations of their Role and Impact

As the number of women in Congress has increased in recent decades, and following the large increase in women following the 1992 elections in particular, numerous studies of Congress have examined the role and impact of these women.

Central to these studies have been questions about

- the legislative behavior of women in Congress, including whether the legislative behavior of female Members differs from their male counterparts. For example, what has the increase in women in Congress meant for descriptive representation (i.e., when representatives and those represented share demographic ²⁰ Totals include standing, special, and select committees. Some women have chaired multiple committees. For additional information, refer to the “Women Who Have Chaired Congressional Committees in the U.S. House, 1923-present” table of the Women in Congress website at <http://history.house.gov/Exhibitions-and-Publications/WIC/Historical-Data/Women-Chairs-of-Congressional-Committees/>.

- characteristics, such as representation of women by women) and substantive representation (i.e., representation of policy preferences and a linkage to policy outcomes)?²¹ This also includes examinations of whether women Members sponsor more “women’s issues bills”²² or speak more frequently on the House floor about women.²³ These examinations also include questions regarding whether there are any differences in roll call voting behavior between men and women Members of Congress, with a focus on successive Members in the same district, in the same party, or in the chamber overall.²⁴
- the “effectiveness” of female legislators, particularly in comparison to male legislators. These studies have examined bill sponsorship and cosponsorship; women’s success in shepherding sponsored bills or amendments into law; committee work; success in securing federal funds; consensus building activities and efforts to form coalitions; effectiveness while in the majority and minority; and their impact on the institution overall.²⁵

²¹ The idea of “representation,” including its forms and variations, has long been debated among political scientists and political theorists. For a discussion, see Hanna F. Pitkin, The Concept of Representation (Berkeley, CA: University of California Press, 1967).

²² Studies characterize “women’s issues” differently, and there is no universally accepted definition. See Beth Reingold, “Women as Office Holders: Descriptive and Substantive Representation,” paper presented at the Political Women and American Democracy Conference, University of Notre Dame, May 25-27, 2006, p. 6; Victoria A. Rickard, “The Effects of Gender on Winnowing in the U.S. House of Representatives,” Politics & Gender, vol. 12 (2016), 814-816.

²³ See, for example, Mary Hawkesworth, Kathleen Casey, Krista Jenkins, and Katherine Kleeman, Legislating By and For Women: A Comparison of the 103rd and 104th Congresses, Center for American Women and Politics, 2001, available at <http://www.cawp.rutgers.edu/research/topics/documents/CongReport103-104.pdf>; Kathryn Pearson and Logan Dancy, “Elevating Women’s Voices in Congress: Speech Participation in the House of Representatives,” Political Research Quarterly, vol. 64 (December 2011), pp. 910-923; Kathryn Pearson and Logan Dancy, “Speaking for the Underrepresented in the House of Representatives: Voicing Women’s Interests in a Partisan Era,” Politics & Gender, vol. 7 (December 2011), pp. 493-519; Kelly Dittmar, Kira Sanbonmatsu, Susan J. Carroll, Debbie Walsh, and Catherine Wineinger, “Representation Matters: Women in the U.S. Congress,” New Brunswick, NJ: Center for American Women in Politics, Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey (2017).

²⁴ See, for example, Michele L. Swers, The Difference Women Make: The Policy Impact of Women in Congress (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2002); Katherine Cramer Walsh, “Enlarging Representation: Women Bring Marginalized Perspectives to Floor Debate in the House of Representatives,” in Women Transforming Congress, ed. Cindy Simon Rosenthal (Norman, OK: University of Oklahoma Press, 2002), pp. 370-396. Jessica C. Gerrity, Tracy Osborn, and Jeannette Morehouse Mendez, “Women and Representation: A Different View of the District?” Politics & Gender, vol. 3 (June 2007), pp. 179-200. Jennifer Sacco, 2012, “Descriptive Representation of Men and Women in the 110th and 111th Congresses,” Paper presented at the Western Political Science Association Annual Meeting. See <http://wpsa.research.pdx.edu/meet/2012/sacco.pdf>. Jocelyn Jones Evans, Women, Partisanship and the Congress (New York: Palgrave MacMillan, 2005); Michele L. Swers, “Are Women More Likely to Vote For Women’s Issue Bills than Their Male Colleagues?” Legislative Studies Quarterly, vol. 23 (1995), pp. 435-448. Brian Frederick, “Are Female House Members Still More Liberal in a Polarized Era? The Conditional Nature of the Relationship Between Descriptive and Substantive Representation,” Congress & the Presidency, vol. 36 (2009), pp. 181-202. Dennis Simon, “The Roll Call Behavior of Men and Women in the U.S. House of Representatives, 1937-2008,” Politics & Gender, vol. 6 (June 2010), pp. 225-246. Brian Frederick, “Gender and Roll Call Voting Behavior in Congress: A Cross-Chamber Analysis,” The American Review of Politics, vol. 34 (Spring 2013), pp. 1-20.

²⁵ See, for example, Cindy Simon Rosenthal, “A View of Their Own: Women’s Committee Leadership Styles and State Legislatures,” Policy Studies Journal, vol. 25 (1997), pp. 585-600; Noelle Norton, “Transforming Policy from the Inside: Participation in Committee,” in Women Transforming Congress, ed. Cindy Simon Rosenthal (Norman, OK: University of Oklahoma Press, 2002), pp. 316-340; Michele L. Swers, The Difference Women Make (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2002); Laura W. Arnold and Barbara M. King, “Women, Committees, and Institutional Change in the Senate,” in Women Transforming Congress, ed. Cindy Simon Rosenthal (Norman, OK: University of Oklahoma Press, 2002), pp. 284-315; Alana Jeydel and Andrew J. Taylor, “Are Women Legislators Less Effective? Evidence from the U.S. House in the 103rd-105th Congress,” Political Research Quarterly, vol. 56 (March 2003), pp.

- the path that leads women to run for office, comparative success rates of female compared with male candidates, and career trajectory once in Congress.²⁶ This includes professional backgrounds and experience, barriers to entry, and fundraising;²⁷ the so-called widow effect, in which many women first secured entry to Congress following the death of a spouse;²⁸ and reelection efforts and influences on decisions regarding voluntary retirement or pursuing other office.²⁹

19-27; Debra Dodson, The Impact of Women in Congress (New York: Oxford University Press, 2006); Sarah Anzia and Christopher Berry, “The Jackie (and Jill) Robinson Effect: Why Do Congresswomen Outperform Congressmen?” American Journal of Political Science, vol. 55 (July 2011), pp. 478-493; Craig Volden, Alan Wiseman, and Dana Wittmer, “When Are Women More Effective Lawmakers Than Men?” American Journal of Political Science, April, 2013, pp. 326-341, available at <http://batten.virginia.edu/research/when-are-women-more-effective-lawmakers-men.>; Stella M. Rouse, Michele L. Swers, Michael D. Parrott, “Gender, Race, and Coalition Building: Agenda Setting as a Mechanism for Collaboration Among Minority Groups in Congress,” Paper delivered for presentation at the American Political Science Association Meeting, August 28-September 1, 2013; Tali Mendelberg, Christopher F. Karpowitz and Nicholas Goedert, “Does Descriptive Representation Facilitate Women’s Distinctive Voice? How Gender Composition and Decision Rules Affect Deliberation,” American Journal of Political Science, Vol. 58, No. 2 (April 2014), pp. 291-306; Victoria A. Rickard, “The Effects of Gender on Winnowing in the U.S. House of Representatives,” Politics & Gender, vol. 12 (2016), 807-834.

²⁶ See, for example, Jennifer Lawless and Kathryn Pearson, “The Primary Reason for Women’s Underrepresentation? Reevaluating the Conventional Wisdom,” Journal of Politics, vol. 70 (2008), pp. 67-82; Richard L. Fox and Jennifer L. Lawless, “Gendered Perceptions and Political Candidacies: A Central Barrier to Women’s Equality in Electoral Politics,” American Journal of Political Science, Vol. 55, No. 1 (January 2011), pp. 59-73; Kathryn Pearson and Eric McGhee, “What It Takes to Win: Questioning ‘Gender Neutral’ Outcomes,” Politics & Gender, 9 (2013), 439-462; Daniell M. Thomsen, “Why So Few (Republican) Women? Explaining the Partisan Imbalance of Women in the U.S. Congress,” Legislative Studies Quarterly, vol. 40, no. 2 (May 2015), pp. 295-423.

²⁷ See, for example, Ashley Baker, “Reexamining the gender implications of campaign finance reform: how higher ceilings on individual donations disproportionately impact female candidates,” Modern American, Vol. 2 (2006) pp. 18-23; Michael H. Crespin and Janna L. Deitz, “If You Can’t Join ‘Em, Beat ‘Em: The Gender Gap in Individual Donations to Congressional Candidates,” Political Research Quarterly, Vol. 63, No. 3 (September 2010), pp. 581-593; Karin E. Kitchens and Michele L. Swers, “Why Aren’t There More Republican Women in Congress? Gender, Partisanship, and Fundraising Support in the 2010 and 2012 Elections,” Politics & Gender, vol. 12 (2016), pp. 648-676.

²⁸ See, for example, Diane D. Kincaid, “Over His Dead Body: A Positive Perspective on Widows in the U. S. Congress,” The Western Political Quarterly, Vol. 31, no. 1 (Mar., 1978), pp. 96-104; Lisa Solowiej and Thomas L. Brunell, “The Entrance of Women to the U.S. Congress: The Widow Effect,” Political Research Quarterly, vol. 56, no. 3 (September 2003), pp. 283-292; and Danielle Lupton, Sahar Parsa, and Steven Sprick Schuster, “Widows, Congressional Representation, and the (Ms.)Appropriation of a Name,” unpublished manuscript, November 5, 2017.

²⁹ See, for example, Jennifer L. Lawless and Sean M. Theriault, “Will She Stay or Will She Go? Career Ceilings and Women’s Retirement from the U.S. Congress,” Legislative Studies Quarterly, vol. 30 (November 2005), pp. 581-596; Jeffrey Lazarus and Amy Steigerwalt, Gendered Vulnerability: How Women Work Harder to Stay in Office (Ann Arbor: University of Michigan Press, 2018).

Appendix. Total Number of Women Who Served in Each Congress

Table A-1. Congressional Service by Women: By Type and by Congress, 1917-2018
(Including any Representatives (Reps.), Delegates (Del.), and Resident Commissioners (RC) who served only a portion of the Congress)

Congress	Reps.	Nonvoting Members (Del. and RC)	House Subtotal (Reps and Nonvoting Members)	Sens.	Total without Nonvoting Members	Total with Nonvoting Members
65 th (1917-1918)	1	0	1	0	1	1
66 th (1919-1920)	0	0	0	0	0	0
67 th (1921-1922) ^a	3	0	3	1	4	4
68 th (1923-1924)	1	0	1	0	1	1
69 th (1925-1926) ^b	3	0	3	0	3	3
70 th (1927-1928) ^c	5	0	5	0	5	5
71 st (1929-1930)	9	0	9	0	9	9
72 nd (1931-1932) ^d	7	0	7	1	8	8
73 rd (1933-1934)	7	0	7	1	8	8
74 th (1935-1936)	6	0	6	2	8	8
75 th (1937-1938) ^e	6	0	6	3	9	9
76 th (1939-1940) ^f	8	0	8	1	9	9
77 th (1941-1942) ^b	9	0	9	1	10	10
78 th (1943-1944) ^c	8	0	8	1	9	9
79 th (1945-1946) ^b	11	0	11	0	11	11
80 th (1947-1948) ^g	7	0	7	1	8	8
81 st (1949-1950) ^c	9	0	9	1	10	10
82 nd (1951-1952) ^b	10	0	10	1	11	11
83 rd (1953-1954) ^h	11	1	12	3	14	15
84 th (1955-1956) ^c	16	1	17	1	17	18
85 th (1957-1958)	15	0	15	1	16	16
86 th (1959-1960) ⁱ	17	0	17	2	19	19
87 th (1961-1962) ⁱ	18	0	18	2	20	20
88 th (1963-1964) ^c	12	0	12	2	14	14
89 th (1965-1966)	11	0	11	2	13	13
90 th (1967-1968)	11	0	11	1	12	12
91 st (1969-1970)	10	0	10	1	11	11
92 nd (1971-1972) ^k	13	0	13	2	15	15

Congress	Reps.	Nonvoting Members (Del. and RC)	House Subtotal (Reps and Nonvoting Members)	Sens.	Total without Nonvoting Members	Total with Nonvoting Members
93 rd (1973-1974) ^b	16	0	16	0	16	16
94 th (1975-1976)	19	0	19	0	19	19
95 th (1977-1978) ^l	18	0	18	3	21	21
96 th (1979-1980) ^m	16	0	16	2	18	18
97 th (1981-1982) ⁿ	21	0	21	2	23	23
98 th (1983-1984) ^c	22	0	22	2	24	24
99 th (1985-1986) ^c	23	0	23	2	25	25
100 th (1987-1988) ^o	24	0	24	2	26	26
101 st (1989-1990) ^p	29	0	29	2	31	31
102 nd (1991-1992) ^q	29	1	30	4	33	34
103 rd (1993-1994) ^r	47	1	48	7	54	55
104 th (1995-1996)	49	1	50	9	58	59
105 th (1997-1998) ^s	55	2	57	9	64	66
106 th (1999-2000)	56	2	58	9	65	67
107 th (2001-2002) ^t	60	2	62	14	74	76
108 th (2003-2004) ^c	60	3	63	14	74	77
109 th (2005-2006) ^u	68	3	71	14	82	85
110 th (2007-2008) ^v	76	3	79	16	92	95
111 th (2009-2010) ^w	76	3	79	17	93	96
112 th (2011-2012) ^x	76	3	79	17	93	96
113 th (2013-2014) ^y	81	3	84	20	101	104
114 th (2015-2016) ^z	85	4	89	20	105	109
115 th (2017-2018) ^{aa}	85	5	90	23	108	113

Source: CRS summary, based on <http://history.house.gov/Exhibition-and-Publications/WIC/Women-in-Congress/>.

Notes: The column headings include the following abbreviations: Representatives (Reps.), Delegates (Del.), Resident Commissioners (RC), and Senators (Sens.).

Three columns include numbers for the House: (1) the number of women Representatives, (2) the number of women nonvoting Members (including Delegates and Resident Commissioners), and (3) the total number of women in the House.

Totals are also provided for (1) the number of women in the House and Senate not including nonvoting Members and (2) the number of women in the House and Senate including nonvoting Members.

For simplification, Congresses are listed in two-year increments. Pursuant to the 20th Amendment to the Constitution, which was ratified January 23, 1933, “the terms of Senators and Representatives [shall end] at noon on the 3rd day of Jan.” For specific dates, see “Dates of Sessions of the Congress, present-1789,” at <http://www.senate.gov/reference/Sessions/sessionDates.htm>.

- a. Includes two House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy and one Senator who was appointed to fill a vacancy.
- b. Includes two House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.

- c. Includes one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy.
- d. Includes one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy and one Senator who was appointed to fill a vacancy.
- e. Includes one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy but not sworn in, one Senator who was elected to fill a vacancy but not sworn in, and one Senator who was appointed to fill a vacancy.
- f. Includes four House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- g. Includes one Senator who was appointed to fill a vacancy.
- h. Includes one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy, one Senator who was appointed to fill a vacancy, and one Senator who was elected to fill that vacancy.
- i. Includes one House Member who died and one House Member elected to fill a vacancy.
- j. Includes three House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- k. Includes one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy and one Senator appointed to fill a vacancy.
- l. Includes two Senators who were appointed to fill a vacancy.
- m. Includes one House Member-elect whose seat was declared vacant due to an incapacitating illness, and one House member who was elected to fill a vacancy.
- n. Includes three House Members who were elected to a vacancy.
- o. Includes one House Member who died.
- p. Includes four House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- q. Includes one House Member and one Senator elected to fill a vacancy and one Senator who was appointed to fill a vacancy.
- r. Includes one Senator who was elected to fill a vacancy.
- s. Includes one House Member who resigned and four House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- t. Includes one House Member who died and one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy.
- u. Includes three House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- v. Includes four House Members who died and four House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- w. Includes two House Members who resigned, one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy, one Senator who resigned, and one Senator initially elected to the House and then appointed to the Senate.
- x. Includes two House Members who resigned and four House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- y. Includes one House Member who resigned and three House Members who were elected to fill a vacancy.
- z. Includes two House Members who resigned and one House Member who was elected to fill a vacancy.
- aa. Includes two House Members elected to fill a vacancy, one House Member who died, and two Senators appointed to fill a vacancy.

Author Contact Information

(name redacted)
Information Research Specialist
[redacted]@crs.loc.gov , 7-....

(name redacted)
Specialist on the Congress
[redacted]@crs.loc.gov , 7-....

Acknowledgments

Linda Carter, Elli Ludwigson, and Cara Warner provided assistance. (name redacted), formerly deputy director and senior specialist, and (name redacted), formerly an analyst on the Federal Judiciary, were former coauthors of this report.

EveryCRSReport.com

The Congressional Research Service (CRS) is a federal legislative branch agency, housed inside the Library of Congress, charged with providing the United States Congress non-partisan advice on issues that may come before Congress.

EveryCRSReport.com republishes CRS reports that are available to all Congressional staff. The reports are not classified, and Members of Congress routinely make individual reports available to the public.

Prior to our republication, we redacted names, phone numbers and email addresses of analysts who produced the reports. We also added this page to the report. We have not intentionally made any other changes to any report published on EveryCRSReport.com.

CRS reports, as a work of the United States government, are not subject to copyright protection in the United States. Any CRS report may be reproduced and distributed in its entirety without permission from CRS. However, as a CRS report may include copyrighted images or material from a third party, you may need to obtain permission of the copyright holder if you wish to copy or otherwise use copyrighted material.

Information in a CRS report should not be relied upon for purposes other than public understanding of information that has been provided by CRS to members of Congress in connection with CRS' institutional role.

EveryCRSReport.com is not a government website and is not affiliated with CRS. We do not claim copyright on any CRS report we have republished.