Summary

Cybersecurity vulnerabilities challenge governments, businesses, and individuals worldwide. Attacks have been initiated against individuals, corporations, and countries. Targets have included government networks, companies, and political organizations, depending upon whether the attacker was seeking military intelligence, conducting diplomatic or industrial espionage, engaging in cybercrime, or intimidating political activists. In addition, national borders mean little or nothing to cyberattackers, and attributing an attack to a specific location can be difficult, which may make responding problematic.

Despite many recommendations made over the past decade, most major legislative provisions relating to cybersecurity were enacted prior to 2002. However, on December 18, 2014, five cybersecurity bills were signed by the President. These bills from the 113th Congress changed federal cybersecurity programs in a number of ways:

- codifying the role of the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) in developing a “voluntary, industry-led set of standards” to reduce cyber risk;
- codifying the Department of Homeland Security’s (DHS’s) National Cybersecurity and Communications Integration Center as a hub for interactions with the private sector;
- updating the Federal Information Security Management Act (FISMA) by requiring the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to “eliminate ... inefficient and wasteful reports”; and
- requiring DHS to develop a “comprehensive workforce strategy” within a year and giving DHS new authorities for cybersecurity hiring.

In the 114th Congress, the House passed eight cyber-related bills:

- H.R. 1073, Critical Infrastructure Protection Act.
- H.R. 1560, Protecting Cyber Networks Act.
- H.R. 1731, National Cybersecurity Protection Advancement Act of 2015.
- H.R. 3490, Strengthening State and Local Cyber Crime Fighting Act.
- H.R. 3510, Department of Homeland Security Cybersecurity Strategy Act of 2015.
- H.R. 3869, State and Local Cyber Protection Act of 2015.
- H.R. 3878, Strengthening Cybersecurity Information Sharing and Coordination in Our Ports Act of 2015.
- H.R. 4743, National Cybersecurity Preparedness Consortium Act of 2016.

The Senate passed one cyber-related bill in the 114th Congress:

- S. 754, Cybersecurity Information Sharing Act of 2015.

In addition to congressional passage of these cyber-specific bills, on December 18, 2015, H.R. 2029, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, was signed into public law (P.L. 114-113). The omnibus law’s cybersecurity provisions are located in Division N (Cybersecurity Act of 2015), including Title I, Cybersecurity Information Sharing; Title II, National Cybersecurity Advancement; Title III, Federal Cybersecurity Workforce Assessment; and Title IV, Other Cyber Matters. The measure represents a compromise between the House and Senate intelligence committees and the House Homeland Security Committee. It includes various components of three separate information sharing bills: H.R. 1560 and H.R. 1731, passed by the House in April 2015, and S. 754, passed by the Senate in October 2015. The bill encourages private companies to voluntarily share information about cyber threats with each other as well as the government. Firms that participate in the information sharing will receive liability protection.

In the 115th Congress, 27 bills have received committee consideration or passed one or both chambers.

This report links to cybersecurity legislation and hearings in the 113th, 114th, and 115th Congresses. In addition it provides a list of executive orders and presidential directives pertaining to information and computer security from 1990-present.

Summary of Legislation and Executive Branch Action

Most major legislative provisions relating to cybersecurity were enacted prior to 2002, despite many recommendations made over the past decade. This report covers legislation from 2013-present.

112th Congress: Summary of Legislative Action

In the 112th Congress, the White House sent a comprehensive, seven-part legislative proposal (White House Proposal) to Congress on May 12, 2011.<sup>1</sup> Some elements of that proposal were included in both House and Senate bills. The House passed a series of bills that addressed a variety of issues—from toughening law enforcement of cybercrimes to giving the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) oversight of federal information technology and critical infrastructure security to lessening liability for private companies that adopt cybersecurity best practices. The Senate pursued a comprehensive cybersecurity bill (S. 3414) with several committees working to create a single vehicle for passage, backed by the White House, but the bill failed to overcome two cloture votes and did not pass.

113th Congress: Summary of Legislative Action

In the 113th Congress, five cybersecurity bills were signed by the President on December 18, 2014:

- H.R. 2952, the Cybersecurity Workforce Assessment Act, which requires the DHS to develop a cyber-workforce strategy;
- S. 1353, the Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2014, which codifies the National Institute of Standards and Technology's (NIST's) role in cybersecurity;
- S. 1691, the Border Patrol Agent Pay Reform Act of 2014, which gives DHS new authorities for cybersecurity hiring;
- S. 2519, the National Cybersecurity Protection Act of 2014, which codifies DHS's cybersecurity center; and
- S. 2521, the Federal Information Security Modernization Act of 2014, which reforms federal IT security management.

The National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2014 became P.L. 113-66 on December 26, 2013 and included a variety of cybersecurity-related provisions related to the cybersecurity workforce and training.

114th Congress: Summary of Legislative Action and Executive Branch Actions

In February 2015, the White House issued Executive Order 13691,<sup>2</sup> which, along with a legislative proposal, was aimed at enhancing information sharing in cybersecurity among private sector entities. It promoted the use of information sharing and analysis organizations (ISAOs), which were defined in the Homeland Security Act (6 U.S.C. §131(5)) as entities that gather, analyze, and share information on the security of critical infrastructure (CI)<sup>3</sup> to assist in defense against and recovery from incidents. The White House initiatives would broaden the reach of ISAOs beyond CI to any affinity group. In that sense, they differ from the more familiar information sharing and analysis centers (ISACs), created in response to Presidential Decision Directive (PDD) 63 in 1998 specifically to address information-sharing needs in CI sectors.

Also in February 2015, the Obama Administration established, via presidential memorandum,<sup>4</sup> the Cyber Threat Intelligence Integration Center (CTIIC) to be established by the Director of National Intelligence (DNI). Its purposes are to provide integrated analysis on foreign cybersecurity threats and incidents affecting national interests and to support relevant government entities, including the National Cybersecurity and Communications Integration Center (NCCIC) at the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), as well as others at the Department of Defense (DOD) and Department of Justice (DOJ).

More than 20 bills were introduced in the 114th Congress that would address several issues, including data-breach notification, incidents involving other nation-states, information sharing, law enforcement and cybercrime, protection of critical infrastructure (CI), workforce development, and education. The Obama Administration released proposals for three bills—on information sharing, data-breach notification, and revision of cybercrime laws.

On April 22, 2015, the House passed H.R. 1560, which would provide liability protection to companies that share cyber threat information with the government and other companies so long as personal information is removed before the sharing of such information. On April 23, 2015, the House passed H.R. 1731, which would encourage information sharing with the Department of Homeland Security by protecting entities from civil liabilities.

On October 27, 2015, the Senate passed S. 754, the Cybersecurity Information Sharing Act of 2015 (CISA), by a vote of 74-21 (Roll call vote 291). The House approved companion legislation in April, so the cybersecurity measure is now on track to reach President Obama's desk and be signed into law, once a conference report is negotiated. CISA attempts to open up communication channels between industry and federal agencies by offering legal immunity to companies that share data with the government. On November 30, 2015, the House passed H.R. 3490, which would establish in the Department of Homeland Security a National Computer Forensics Institute to be operated by the U.S. Secret Service for the dissemination of homeland security information related to the investigation and prevention of cyber and electronic crime. On December 10, 2015, the House passed H.R. 3869, the State and Local Cyber Protection Act of 2015, which requires the Department of Homeland Security's (DHS's) national cybersecurity and communications integration center (NCCIC) to assist state and local governments with cybersecurity, and on December 16, 2015, the House passed H.R. 3878, Strengthening Cybersecurity Information Sharing and Coordination in Our Ports Act of 2015, which requires DHS to seek to enhance cybersecurity situational awareness and information sharing between and with maritime security stakeholders from federal, state, local, and tribal governments, public safety and emergency response agencies, law enforcement and security organizations, maritime industry participants, port owners and operators, and maritime terminal owners and operators.

On December 18, 2015, H.R. 2029, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, was signed into public law (P.L. 114-113). The omnibus law's cybersecurity provisions are located in Division N (Cybersecurity Act of 2015), including Title I, Cybersecurity Information Sharing; Title II, National Cybersecurity Advancement; Title III, Federal Cybersecurity Workforce Assessment; and Title IV, Other Cyber Matters. The measure represents a compromise between the House and Senate intelligence committees and the House Homeland Security Committee. It includes various components of three separate information sharing bills: H.R. 1560 and H.R. 1731, passed by the House in April 2015, and S. 754, passed by the Senate in October 2015. The bill encourages private companies to voluntarily share information about cyber threats with each other as well as the government. Firms that participate in the information sharing will receive liability protection.

115th Congress: Summary of Legislative Action

Twenty-seven bills have received committee consideration or passed one or both chambers in the 115th Congress. See Table 1 and Table 2 for a list of these bills.

E.O. 13694, Blocking the Property of Certain Persons Engaging in Significant Malicious Cyber-Enabled Activities	April 1, 2015	White House	Establishes the first sanctions program to allow the Administration to impose penalties on individuals overseas who engage in destructive attacks or commercial espionage in cyberspace. The order declares “significant malicious cyber-enabled activities” a “national emergency” and enables the Treasury Secretary to target foreign individuals and entities that take part in the illicit cyberactivity for sanctions that could include freezing their financial assets and barring commercial transactions with them.
Presidential Memorandum—Establishment of the Cyber Threat Intelligence Integration Center	February 25, 2015	White House	The CTIIC will be a national intelligence center focused on “connecting the dots” regarding malicious foreign cyber threats to the nation and cyber incidents affecting U.S. national interests, and on providing all-source analysis of threats to U.S. policymakers. The CTIIC will also assist relevant departments and agencies in their efforts to identify, investigate, and mitigate those threats
E.O. 13691, Encouraging Private-Sector Cybersecurity Collaboration	February 12, 2015	White House	Calls for establishing new “information sharing and analysis organizations to serve as focal points for cybersecurity information sharing and collaboration within the private sector and between the private sector and government.” It also aims to streamline the process companies use to sign agreements with the federal government and grants DHS new powers to approve sharing classified intelligence with the private sector.
E.O. 13687, Imposing Additional Sanctions with Respect to North Korea	January 2, 2015	White House	States that North Korea engaged in “provocative, destabilizing, and repressive actions and policies,” including “destructive, coercive cyber-related actions during November and December 2014,” and authorizes sanctions against North Korea. The sanctions prohibit the people and organizations named from accessing the U.S. financial system and forbid any banks or other financial institutions that do business with the U.S. system from doing business with the sanctioned entities.
E.O. 13681, Improving the Security of Consumer Financial Transactions	October 17, 2014	White House	Mandates that government credit and debit cards be enabled with chip and PIN technology and that federal facilities accept chip and PIN-enabled cards at retail terminals.

E.O. 13636, Improving Critical Infrastructure Cybersecurity	February 12, 2013	White House	Addresses cybersecurity threats to critical infrastructure (CI) by, among other things, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>expanding to other CI sectors an existing DHS program for information sharing and collaboration between the government and the private sector;</li> <li>establishing a broadly consultative process for identifying CI with especially high priority for protection;</li> <li>requiring the National Institute of Standards and Technology to lead in developing a Cybersecurity Framework of standards and best practices for protecting CI; and</li> <li>requiring regulatory agencies to determine the adequacy of current requirements and their authority to establish requirements to address the risks.</li> </ul>
Presidential Policy Directive (PPD) 21 - Critical Infrastructure Security and Resilience	February 12, 2013	White House	Establishes national policy on critical infrastructure security and resilience. This endeavor is a shared responsibility among the federal, state, local, tribal, and territorial (SLTT) entities, and public and private owners and operators of critical infrastructure (hereinafter referred to as “critical infrastructure owners and operators”). This directive also refines and clarifies the critical infrastructure-related functions, roles, and responsibilities across the federal government, as well as enhances overall coordination and collaboration. The federal government also has a responsibility to strengthen the security and resilience of its own critical infrastructure, for the continuity of national essential functions, and to organize itself to partner effectively with and add value to the security and resilience efforts of critical infrastructure owners and operators.
E. O. 13618, Assignment of National Security and Emergency Preparedness Communications Functions	July 6, 2012	White House	Addresses the federal government's need and responsibility to communicate during national security and emergency situations and crises by assigning federal national security and emergency preparedness communications functions. EO 13618 is a continuation of older executive orders issued by other presidents and is related to the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. §606). This executive order, however, changes federal national security and emergency preparedness

E.O. 13587, Structural Reforms to Improve the Security of Classified Networks and the Responsible	October 7, 2011	White House	communications functions by dissolving the National Communications System, establishing an executive committee to oversee federal national security and emergency preparedness communications functions, establishing a programs office within the DHS to assist the executive committee, and assigning specific responsibilities to federal government entities. Directs structural reforms to ensure responsible sharing and safeguarding of classified information on computer networks that shall be consistent with appropriate protections for privacy and civil liberties. Agencies bear the primary responsibility for meeting these twin goals. These policies and minimum standards will address all agencies that operate or access classified computer networks, all users of classified computer networks (including contractors and others who operate or access classified computer networks controlled by the federal government), and all classified information on those networks.
HSPD-23/NSPD-54 -Cybersecurity Policy	January 8, 2008	White House	Establishes U.S. policy, strategy, guidelines, and implementation actions to secure cyberspace. It strengthens and augments existing policies for protecting the security and privacy of information entrusted to the federal government and clarifies roles and responsibilities of federal agencies relating to cybersecurity. It requires the federal government to integrate many of its technical and organizational capabilities to better address sophisticated cybersecurity threats and vulnerabilities.
E.O. 13407, Public Alert and Warning System	June 26, 2006	White House	Assigns the Secretary of Homeland Security the responsibility to establish or adopt, as appropriate, common alerting and warning protocols, standards, terminology, and operating procedures for the public alert and warning system to enable interoperability and the secure delivery of coordinated messages to the American people through as many communication pathways as practicable, taking account of Federal Communications Commission rules as provided by law.
HSPD-7, Homeland Security Presidential Directive No. 7: Critical Infrastructure Identification, Prioritization, and Protection	December 17, 2003	White House	Assigns the Secretary of Homeland Security the responsibility of coordinating the nation's overall efforts in critical infrastructure protection across all sectors. Designates the Secretary of Homeland Security the Executive Agent of the National Communication System Committee of Principals, which are the agencies, designated by the President, that own or lease telecommunication assets identified as part of the National Communication System, or which bear policy, regulatory, or enforcement responsibilities of importance to national security and emergency preparedness telecommunications.
Presidential Decision Directive/NSC-63	May 22, 1998	White House	Sets as a national goal the ability to protect the nation's critical infrastructure from intentional attacks (both physical and cyber) by the year 2003. According to the PDD, any interruptions in the ability of these infrastructures to provide their goods and services must be "brief, infrequent, manageable, geographically isolated, and minimally detrimental to the welfare of the United States."
NSD-42, National Security Directive 42 - National Policy for the Security of National Security Telecommunications and Information Systems	July 5, 1990	White House	Establishes the National Security Telecommunications and Information Systems Security Committee, now called the Committee on National Security Systems (CNSS). CNSS is an interagency committee, chaired by the Department of Defense. Among other assignments, NSD-42 directs the CNSS to provide system security guidance for national security systems to executive departments and agencies and submit annually to the Executive Agent an evaluation of the security status of national security systems. NSD-42 also directs the CNSS to interact, as necessary, with the National Communications System Committee of Principals.
