Judiciary Budget Request for FY2027

Overview

The federal judiciary’s FY2027 budget request was made public by the Administrative Office of U.S. Courts on March 25, 2026. The request seeks $9.7 billion in discretionary funding (an increase of 4.9% over the FY2026 enacted level), as well as $826.5 million in mandatory appropriations for judicial salaries and judicial retirement funds.

The judiciary also uses non-appropriated funds to offset its appropriations requirement. The majority of these non-appropriated funds are derived from the collection of fees, primarily court filing fees. The judiciary’s annual appropriations request reflects the net needs of the judiciary after the use of non-appropriated funds.

Congress typically includes appropriations for the judiciary in the Financial Services and General Government (FSGG) Appropriations bill.

Table 1 presents the FY2026 discretionary enacted level and the FY2027 discretionary request for each account that is part of the judiciary’s budget request.
