Senate Committee Funding Requests and Authorizations, 106th-119th Congresses

In the Senate, a biennial funding process applies to all Senate committees except Appropriations and Ethics, which have permanent authorizations for their staff and operating expenses. The Senate Committee on Rules and Administration has jurisdiction over committee funding resolutions and issues regulations governing committee funding and staff.

On February 27, 2025, the Senate adopted by unanimous consent S.Res. 94 (119th Congress), authorizing expenditures by Senate committees.

The authorizing resolution allocates expenditures for three periods:

- March 1, 2025, through September 30, 2025;
- October 1, 2025, through September 30, 2026; and
- October 1, 2026, through February 28, 2027.

This report, which provides committee funding requests and authorizations for Senate committees in the 106th through 119th Congresses, will be updated as warranted.

Background

Committee funding and staffing is addressed in Senate Rules XXVI and XXVII, statute, and negotiations among Senate leadership. Authorization of funding for Senate committees (except the Committee on Appropriations<sup>1</sup> and Select Committee on Ethics<sup>2</sup>), in particular, is governed by Senate Rule XXVI, paragraph 9.<sup>3</sup>

In general, during the first few months of a new Congress, each Senate committee (except Appropriations and Ethics) typically reports a resolution (an “S.Res.”) providing for its expenses.<sup>4</sup>

The resolutions also generally specify limits for expenses related to consultants and training for each covered period, address requirements for vouchers, and authorize the payment of agency contributions.<sup>5</sup>

The individual funding resolutions are then incorporated by the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration into a single, omnibus committee funding resolution. The resolution provides an aggregate authorization for all committees (except Appropriations and Ethics) and then separate sections for each committee.

While funds are authorized and allocated to these committees through the adoption of the resolution, the appropriation for committee funding is contained in the annual legislative branch appropriations acts (in the Senate’s Contingent Expenses, Inquiries and Investigations account).

Committee expenditures made pursuant to these funds are published in the semiannual Report of the Secretary of the Senate.<sup>6</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Specifically, Senate Rule XXVI, paragraph 9(a) provides for each committee to annually report a funding resolution authorizing the committee to make expenditures during the period from March 1 of the current year through the last day of February in the following year. Rule XXVI, paragraph 9(b) provides for a process that may be employed in lieu of the process outlined in paragraph 9(a); specifically, it permits the Committee on Rules and Administration to direct each committee to report an authorization resolution covering a two-year period; and for the Committee on Rules and Administration to report an authorization resolution providing for the expenditures of multiple committees over either a one- or two-year period. The omnibus biennial resolution process dates to 1988 (S.Res. 479, 100th Cong.; S.Rept. 100-541).

The section for each committee does not include certain expenses not covered by the committee budgets, including, for example, certain staff employment benefits and certain travel costs.

Funding Resolution: Periods of Authorization and Most Recent Actions

Since the 106th Congress (1999-2000), committee funding resolutions have divided funds among three calendar periods to align more closely with the fiscal year appropriations cycle. For the 119th Congress, as seen in Figure 1, these periods are

- March 1, 2025, through September 30, 2025 (7 months);
- October 1, 2025, through September 30, 2026 (12 months); and
- October 1, 2026, through February 28, 2027 (5 months).

Source: Figure from CRS based on S.Res. 94 (119th Congress). Funding for the first two months of the 119th Congress (January and February 2025) was provided by S.Res. 59 (118th Congress), agreed to on February 15, 2023.

On February 25, 2025, Senator McConnell, chair of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, reported an original committee funding resolution.<sup>7</sup> The Senate adopted by unanimous consent S.Res. 94, authorizing expenditures by Senate committees, on February 27, 2025.

Brief Historical Overview: Authorizations Prior to the 106th Congress

In the decades prior to 1999, the Senate modified the committee funding resolution process or funding periods a number of times:

- The Legislative Reorganization Act of 1970 (P.L. 91-510, Title I, §110) authorized Senate committees to offer original resolutions providing for certain additional expenditures “for inquiries and investigations” that were beyond the allowances that were then otherwise provided by the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 or other allowances (for examples of subsequent resolutions, see S.Res. 21, S.Res. 23, and S.Res. 33, 93rd Congress).
- S.Res. 281, 96th Congress (agreed to on March 11, 1980), amended Senate Rule XXVI and directed committees to report one authorization resolution each year, to cover expenses from March 1 of the current year to the last day of February the next year. The accompanying report (S.Rept. 96-494) stated: “The primary purpose of this resolution and its related bill (S. 2018) is to simplify the committee budgetary process by providing that all expenditures of each Senate committee staff and the expenses related to all operations, including inquiries and investigations, would be allocated in a single annual resolution, originating in each committee.” In 1981, the Senate considered and agreed to separate resolutions for each committee (e.g., S.Res. 25, S.Res. 34, S.Res. 35, S.Res. 39, 97th Congress).

<sup>7</sup> The text of the committee funding resolution had been ordered favorably reported at a business meeting of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration on February 25, 2025, <https://www.rules.senate.gov/hearings/business-meeting-02-25-2025>.

- An omnibus committee funding resolution process began in 1982. Initially, these resolutions were considered annually (for example, S.Res. 333, 97th Congress, for 1982; S.Res. 76, 98th Congress, for 1983; S.Res. 354, 98th Congress, for 1984). The funding period, March 1 of the current year to the last day of February the next year, remained the same.
- The omnibus biennial resolution process dates to an amendment to Senate Rule XXVI agreed to in 1988 (S.Res. 479, 100th Congress; S.Rept. 100-541), with the two-year budget period beginning on March 1 of the first session of a Congress.
- As stated above, the funding authorization time periods were realigned beginning in 1999 (S.Res. 38 and S.Res. 122, 106th Congress). Figure 1 shows an example of the authorization time periods using the most recent funding authorization resolution, S.Res. 94 (119th Congress), as an example.

Division of Funds Between Majority and Minority

The division of committee funds between the majority and minority is governed by Senate Rules and colloquies on the Senate floor between the majority and minority leaders and a Joint Leadership Letter inserted into the Congressional Record.

Senate Rule XXVII states that each committee’s staff “should reflect the relative number of majority and minority members of committees,” that the “minority shall receive fair consideration in the appointment of staff,” and that there shall be “equitable treatment with respect to the fixing of salary rates, the assignment of facilities, and the accessibility of committee records.”<sup>8</sup> In addition, a majority of the minority party members of a committee may request at least one-third of the personnel funds for hiring minority staff (after excluding funds for staff that perform administrative and clerical functions).

The colloquies have been used since the 108th Congress.<sup>9</sup> Beginning in the 112th Congress, the majority and minority leaders agreed to a new, standardized approach to the distribution of committee funding, which they also agreed should be adopted by future Congresses.

The 2011 agreement from the joint leadership was discussed in the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration report (S.Rept. 112-9) to accompany the committee funding resolution (S.Res. 81, 112th Congress):<sup>10</sup>

During the 1990s, pursuant to Rule XXVII, most committees allocated their funding two-thirds for the majority and one-third for the minority. During the past decade, starting with the 107th Congress, biennial negotiations over the allocation ratios for committee funding produced Leadership guidance, which the Rules Committee used to develop committee budget guidelines. The 109th Congress Leadership colloquy of January 6, 2005 set a minimum for the minority of 40 percent of personnel funds after allocations for non-designated administrative and clerical staff. The minority leader stated in the colloquy that he hoped never in the future would it be any lower, no matter which party is in control of the Senate.

In the 112th Congress, on February 3, 2011, the Leadership agreed on a new funding approach to be used in the 112th and their intention that it be used in future Congresses in place of biennial negotiations. That funding approach is based on the party division of the Senate, but recognizes the majority's need for resources commensurate with its responsibilities in administering the committee. The Leadership agreed that 10 percent of the total majority and minority baseline salary amount, after allocations for non-designated administrative and clerical staff, would be set aside for the majority. The remaining 90 percent would be divided according to the party division of the Senate. For the 112th Congress, the party division for funding purposes is 53 to 47. Committee office space follows the same approach, with 10 percent of the total space set aside for the majority, and the remaining 90 percent divided according to the party division of the Senate. The Leadership colloquy further specified that regardless of the party division of the Senate, however, the minority share would never be less than 40 percent, and the majority would never exceed 60 percent including the 10 percent set aside for the majority. This approach provides greater stability to committees when Senate party ratios alter or the Senate majority changes from one party to another.

On February 15, 2023, the majority and minority leaders again engaged in a “Joint Leadership Letter and Colloquy,” setting out agreed division for the 118th Congress. The agreement continued the division of funds based on party ratio, “including an additional ten percent (10%) from the majority and minority salary baseline to be allocated to the chair for administrative expenses.”<sup>11</sup>

In addition, the agreement stated that special reserves would “only be considered when submitted by a committee chairman and ranking member for unanticipated, nonrecurring needs. Such requests shall be granted only upon the approval of the chair and ranking member of the Committee on Rules and Administration.”<sup>12</sup>

The committee print for the 119th Congress reprinted this exchange.<sup>13</sup>

Committee staff may also be supplemented by consultants and staff detailed to committees from federal agencies, subject to such regulations as the Committee on Rules and Administration may impose.<sup>14</sup>
